10,000 at Paltz Parade Of Firemen Saturday

Wicks Co., Milton Are Winners Port Ewen Corps Best Music Unit

Approximately 10,000 persons watched the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association parade in New Paltz on Saturday afternoon in which the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co. won a trophy for the most men in line of march.

The Port Ewen Drum Corps received the award as the outstanding musical unit and the Milton Fire Department received a trophy for the best appearing department.

THE WICKS fire company, headed by Capt. N. Foster Winfield and Fire Commissioner Charles Dorenbacher and Harold Van Bramer, had 43 men in line of march. The American Legion Drum Corps of Greenwich, Conn., was scheduled to lead the company but their bus had motor trouble on the Thruway and did not arrive in time for the parade.

The judges were former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, Percy Van Leuven of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association and Rodney DuBois of Connelly.

UNDER SUNNY SKIES a total of 28 companies, including 27 pieces of apparatus, nine ladies auxiliaries and 11 bands, stepped off in the line of march at North Mannheim Boulevard at 5 p. m. The parade marched over the main streets in the center of the village and disbanded at the Erchouse on Main street.

Officials and guests reviewed the parade from the reviewing stand at the Huguenot National Bank.

BETWEEN 1,300 and 1,500, including 62 members of the newly-organized fire police association, marched in the parade which climaxed the 21st annual convention of the county volunteers.

Alfredrick Kilmer of Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 was elected president of the association at the annual business meeting held Thursday evening at the Ireland Corners Hotel, Gardiner. The 1957 convention will be held in the town of Ulster.

New State Legion Head Is Newburgh Attorney

Attorney Martin B. McKneally of Newburgh was elected without opposition on Saturday as state commander of the American Legion at its 38th annual convention in Rochester.

He succeeds Frederick T. Devlin of Buffalo.

Mrs. Leonard Miscall of Ithaca was elected president of the state auxiliary, succeeding Mrs. John M. Milbury of Mt. Vernon. In his address to the convention Commander McKneally called for a vigorous fight against communism by the state unit in the year ahead.

He declared the Legion would not be swayed from its strongly antagonistic stand on communism.

"We will not be dissuaded," he said, "by opinions expressed by anyone to the effect that Communist conspiracy is a simple political party."

The new commander referred to a recent opinion issued by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in which the "simple political party" term was used in reference to the Communist party.

He pointed out the Legion has opposed communism since 1933 when it fought against the recognition of Russia. Patriotic Americans look to the American Legion for leadership and guidance in "this critical and dangerous period," he said.

Tractor-Trailer Safety Rules Outlined by Ave

Albany, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—Gov. Harriman has proposed a nine-point program designed to keep tractor-trailer trucks out of accidents.

He also named Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelley to head a six-member committee for continuing study of ways to improve safety in the trucking industry.

The governor's program, announced yesterday, includes: Control of speed by use of radar by State police and mandatory installation of speed-recording devices in the big vehicles;

Special standards for licensing of trailer truck drivers and for safety inspections of trucks;

Requests that the federal interstate commerce commission modify fatigue control rules and that the State Public Service Commission require independent brakes for trailers and, possibly auxiliary mechanical brakes;

Designation of additional road areas with special speed limits for trucks;

The possible establishment of a system under which traffic convictions against truck drivers would be reported to their employers, a step recommended by the trucking industry.

The program followed a Wednesday conference at which state officials and representatives of the trucking industry met to consider steps to cut down the number of accidents involving trailer trucks. Harriman called the conference after four accidents—all involving trailer trucks—took 10 lives in the state June 27.

Industry spokesmen endorsed use of unmarked police cars, radar in control of speed and special license standards.

The governor said he had directed the state motor vehicle commissioner to draft special license standards to be effective "as soon as practicable."

He said he would ask the 1957 Legislature to require that tractor trailers carry speed-recording devices, now required in buses and trains.

The governor said the instruments would improve enforcement of speed laws and would assist in analysis of accidents.

Albert T. DeRose said after the Wednesday conference that the industry favored stronger enforcement of traffic laws but was opposed to compulsory use of speed recorders. He said they were "expensive and very delicate."

DeRose said about half the trucking companies in the state were using the instruments voluntarily.

The governor said he had asked the superintendent of state police to instruct his men that speed laws and other traffic regulations governing trucks "must be vigorously enforced."

The governor said the ICC would be asked to modify its restrictions on the number of hours a driver could spend behind the wheel at one stretch. He said he would ask that they conform with "the higher standards" of the State Labor law. The federal regulations supercede those of the state.

Others named to the special committee included DeRose, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and others.

Girl Dies, Others Are Badly Hurt Party Jumbled Pile at Bottom

Timberline Lodge, Ore., July 30 (AP)—A group of youthful mountain climbers, roped together for safety, was plunged to the bottom of a rocky crevasse yesterday when two of their number lost their footing.

One girl died and the others were injured, some of them gravely, as the teen-agers were whipped one after the other over the brink on the slopes of Mt. Hood.

THE ACCIDENT occurred near the summit of the 11,235-foot peak in Cascades some 60 miles east of Portland.

The youngsters had come from eastern and midwestern states on a bike and train tour of the country. They had climbed the peak and were on their way down when the mishap occurred at about 3:30 p. m.

Other climbers saw the accident and brought word to the lodge here. Rescue crews were organized and worked through the night to bring the climbers and their leaders down.

Lynn Kaufman, 16, of Larchmont, N. Y., was dead by the time help arrived. She was suffocated when driven deep in the snow at the bottom of the 40-foot drop.

SEVERAL OTHERS were injured critically and only two of the party of 19 were able to walk.

The injured were carried down the slopes by litter and taken to Portland hospitals.

Some of them lay for hours on the lip of the crevasse as doctors worked over them.

The youngsters slid a hundred feet or more down an icy chute, then were dashed into a jumbled pile at the bottom of the crevasse.

ONE CLIMBER who saw them, said they all were roped together, 19, or about 100 feet of rope, and suddenly two of those at the back of the line lost their footing.

As they slid they whipped the Bid for Innocent Directive Lost

Parris Island, S. C., July 30 (AP)—The defense today lost its bid for a direct verdict of innocent in the court-martial of Marine S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

Defense Attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York city asked the court at the opening of its third week of trial for innocent verdicts for the former drill instructor accused of involuntary manslaughter in the drowning of six recruits, oppression of recruits and drinking in the presence of a recruit.

In a deliberate tone the trial judge, Navy Capt. Irving N. Klein, also of New York city, said, "the motion for a finding of not guilty is denied."

Technically, the seven-man court martial could have overruled Klein by a three-fourths vote. But in a member-by-member poll the panel voiced "no objection."

The only charge on which Berman did not make a motion for dismissal was that of possessing an alcoholic beverage in barracks.

Broome Says ABC Ruling Sudden, Comment Held Up

George Broome, of Saugerties, president of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers' Association, told The Freeman today the new ruling, effective Oct. 1, of a 1 a. m. closing for restaurants, night clubs and grills selling alcoholic beverages "was totally unexpected."

HE SAID the association would withhold any further comment until members are given "adequate opportunity to express their opinion to our board of directors."

The Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board announced Saturday that effective Oct. 1 the closing hour for restaurants, night clubs and grills selling alcoholic beverages will be 1 a. m.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT drew praise from Joseph L. Sauter, executive secretary of the Dutchess County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, who expressed hope that Putnam and Columbia counties will follow Ulster county in a 1 a. m. curfew.

In Dutchess county, the ABC board has for many years enforced a 1 a. m. curfew for six days a week with a 2 a. m. closing observed on Sunday.

Mr. Broome's statement said: "The announcement by the Ulster County ABC Board regarding revised hours for the sale of on-the-premises alcoholic beverages was totally unexpected."

"THE ULSTER COUNTY Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealer's Association is withholding any comment on the new ruling until members are given adequate opportunity to express their opinion to our board of directors."

"I personally feel that the suddenness with which the announcement was made and the impact it will have on all establishments engaged in the sale of alcoholic beverages will draw diversified opinion within our industry."

Jones Buys Milk Routes in Hurley

Addison Jones, owner of Jones Dairy, 95 Cornell street, announced today he has purchased the milk routes of Cole Brothers Dairy in the town of Hurley.

Mr. Jones said he will continue to bottle and distribute milk from the Cole Brothers herd. A complete line of dairy products will be available to customers on the Hurley routes, he said.

He said Harry Skerrett Jr., of Hurley, will represent his dairy as milk distributor in that township.

Mr. Jones, prominent in this city for many years in bowling and baseball promotions, has operated a dairy here for 30 years. He has also been closely associated with the Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for more than 10 years, having served six years as county chairman for the March of Dimes.

Would Put Courts Into One System

New York, July 30 (AP)—A state commission has recommended streamlining New York courts into a single, statewide system.

The bipartisan temporary commission on the courts said its plan made public yesterday, aims to cure the "defects inherent in our present court system" and "bring about a great improvement in the administration of justice."

"ITS ACCEPTANCE," the commission said, "will mean that court reform becomes a reality in New York State in our time... its rejection will mean that real reform of the court structure will be indefinitely postponed in our state."

The state's court system was last reorganized in 1846.

Public hearings on the plan will be held this fall. Then the plan goes to the governor and the 1957 legislature.

TO GO INTO effect, the plan would require amendment of the state constitution by votes of two successive legislatures and approval in a popular election.

The commission said the new court system would operate in a

Asked Husband About Titanic Before Tragedy

Minutes before the Andrea Doria and Stockholm collided Wednesday night Mrs. Gelsomina Andreini of Highland, who was watching a movie on the Italian liner, asked her husband, ironically, "Where did the Titanic go down?"

Mrs. Andreini, one of the survivors brought into New York on the Ile de France, was slightly injured in being evacuated from the ill-fated ship. She was admitted to Roosevelt Hospital, New York city, and after being released returned to her home Saturday afternoon.

Thoughts of a ship collision were not in the minds of those attending the movie, she said, but when they left the movie "everybody was running" after they felt a slight jar on the ship.

Mrs. Andreini was reluctant to leave the ship under the maritime law of "women and children first." She wanted to remain with her husband who was one of the last to leave after assisting other passengers from the ship. He was brought to New York on the Cape Ann.

Criticism have been leveled against the conduct of the crew at the time of the disaster but

Big Three Ponders Problem Russia Included In Passage Move

London, July 30 (AP)—American support was asked today for a plan to set up an international board, on which Russia would be represented, to control the Suez Canal and guarantee freedom of passage for the ships of all nations.

British and French sources said the plan, designed to counter Egyptian President Nasser's seizure of the canal, was placed before policy makers of the three western powers, meeting here in a crisis atmosphere.

IN EFFECT it would recognize Egypt's nationalization of the canal, but would superimpose a guarantee of its international use.

A rising clamor in the British press demanded the use of armed force, if needed, to answer Nasser.

Hundreds of onlookers thronged Downing street where British Prime Minister Eden met with his cabinet and military chiefs.

THE CABINET session preceded a second conference of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and U. S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, who examined the Suez question for five hours yesterday.

Informants close to the conference said the plan which the United States is being asked to support would give Egypt, as well as Russia, a place on the Suez International Control Board, and that Egypt would be guaranteed a share of the revenue from the operation of the waterway.

RUSSIA WAS a signatory of the nine-power convention of Constantinople in 1888 which guaranteed the canal would be open to ships of all flags in peace and war.

Alarm of Britons and Frenchmen over the fact Egypt's nationalist revolutionary leader has their oil and commercial lifeline to the Middle East and Far East at his mercy was the basis of the proposal.

IT WAS PUT in shape during morning conferences of legal, political, economic and military advisors of the three-power delegates.

The advisors were reported to have been unable to find any strong legal objection to nationalization of the company itself.

American support for the plan was considered vital by London and Paris, but Murphy, it was reported, had to await approval from Washington.

IN A SPEECH in Paris, French Premier Guy Mollet told reporters France's reply to Nasser's coup would be an "energetic and severe riposte," a fencing term meaning a quick thrust. He compared Nasser's methods to those of Hitler.

The British and French here were eager to know, also, what orders would go out to the U. S. 6th fleet in the Mediterranean in case British warships were de-

Aluminum Strike Looms in Nation

New York, July 30 (AP)—The possibility of an imminent strike faced a large segment of the nation's aluminum industry today but one union spokesman said both sides were "eager" to avert a shutdown.

The threat arose on the heels of a settlement in the steel industry, which was tied up by a 650,000-man walkout July 1.

Current contracts between the giant Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA) and the Reynolds Aluminum Co. expire at midnight tomorrow.

While a union spokesman spoke of eagerness on both sides to conclude a new agreement before that time, it also was reported that the union would not agree to extension of the old contract past the deadline.

This would mean a walkout at that time.

FLAMES OF DEATH AND DESTRUCTION—Clouds of heavy black smoke billow from flaming remains of two of five huge petroleum storage tanks destroyed by fire and explosion at tank farm near Dumas, Tex., July 29. Searing heat burned 18 men to death and 32 were hospitalized. There may be four more bodies in the devastated area, where seven tanks in all exploded. (AP Wirephoto).

19 Die, 31 Burned in Petroleum Tank Explosion at Texas Plant

Dumas, Tex., July 30 (AP)—A explosions burned and shattered burning petroleum tank exploded into a towering mass of white-hot flames that seared 15 men to death in an instant yesterday. Four others died later from horrible burns.

At least 31 others were burned by the blast that shot an orange fireball thousands of feet high and scorched a quarter mile radius.

Horrified spectators saw friends and relatives stumble moaning and crying, their clothing afire, from the smoke and flames at the Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. tank farm. Ensuing explosions burned a quarter mile away. Bob Bower, Shamrock public relations official, said the men were fighting a small ground fire when the 20,000-barrel tank containing pentane, a butane-like fuel, caught fire. Firemen who were attempting to cool other tanks were caught in the first explosion at 6:53 a. m. Greater loss of life was averted because many of the men had backed away from the tank because of the intense heat.

The other tanks, ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 barrels in capacity, quickly caught fire (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Man Dies in Car On R-28 Going To Fleischmanns

An Astoria, L. I., man, en route to Fleischmanns to join his family, died suddenly Sunday morning in an automobile on Route 28 at West Hurley.

He was Arthur Fasoulas, 59, of 2180 21st street.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie, who investigated with the Ulster county sheriff's office, said death was due to a coronary occlusion. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock.

Coroner McCordie said Mr. Fasoulas was a passenger in an automobile operated by his nephew, John Lazos of the same address. They were traveling in a northerly direction toward Fleischmanns when Mr. Fasoulas complained of feeling ill.

His nephew asked Mr. Fasoulas if he felt like going on and he replied in the affirmative, the coroner said. Mr. Lazos looked again at Mr. Fasoulas, however, a few moments later and saw that he was in distress. He pulled to the side of the road in front of the West Hurley Inn.

The West Hurley Fire Department under Chief Lewis McNally administered respiration with a resuscitator until the arrival of Dr. Cohn. The Rev. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. John's Church, Stony Hollow, was present at the scene.

The coroner said Mr. Fasoulas had been under a doctor's care for some time with a heart ailment.

Talks Started On Reassessments

First interviews of those who requested appointments to discuss the city's new reassessment figures opened today in the city assessor's office, and 80 out of 82 persons scheduled for interviews appeared.

Publication of the reassessment figures began last Tuesday and more than 160 appointments were requested by Friday afternoon. The total up until noon today was 254.

Figures for wards 11 and 12 are published today on pages 11, 12 and 13.

Aug. 11 is the deadline for appointments, and Aug. 14 is grievance day. The assessor's phone number is 1993.

The office has 78 interviews slated for tomorrow.

Mail Trunk Fire

A fire caused by a short circuit in a primary wire of a U. S. mail truck, driven by Joseph Crespino of Len Court at 12:48 p. m., today, resulted in only slight damage to the vehicle. Firemen were called but the driver had the blaze under control with a garden hose before their arrival.

Lots Make $17,173

Receipts from Poughkeepsie's five municipal parking lots totaled $17,173.80 during the first six months of the year, it was reported Saturday. The total was more than double the receipts of $7,803.43 for the corresponding period of last year. Only two of the five lots were open the first half of last year, it was reported.

Lowest for Month

An overnight low temperature of 53 degrees was the lowest recorded in the city during this month, the city engineer's office reported today. A low of 47 degrees was recorded in the Ashoka reservoir, for another record in the month. The previous low in the city was 55 degrees on July 18. The city high yesterday was 80 at 5 p. m.

Snake in Tree

Persons who see snakes up trees are not always willing to admit it, but a real snake apparently had a real climb here Saturday. Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., was dispatched to Spruce street following a report of the climbing snake at 4:55 p. m. It was a seven-foot black snake, and after it was "poled out" of the tree by the officer, it wriggled away in the underbrush, the report said.

The famous Taj Mahal tomb at Agra, India, is constructed entirely of marble.

No Trace Found Of Missing Boy

The mother and aunt of a 16-year-old Brooklyn boy, who has been missing since a bus trip July 9 from Oneonta to Kingston, were in the Kingston area over the weekend in an effort to trace the youth.

Police were notified that William Grolz, of 1298 Halsey street was supposed to have transferred to a New York bus at Kingston when he arrived here from Oneonta. Nothing has been heard from him since.

The boy is of dark complexion, five feet, nine inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has black hair, green-cut, and brown eyes. A finger nail on the left index finger is missing.

Local police, to date, have no definite information indicating that the boy had completed the bus trip from Oneonta to this city.

The mother and aunt made inquiries at police headquarters Saturday and were due to make others along Route 28 over the weekend after leaving here.

No Trace Found Of Missing Boy

The mother and aunt of a 16-year-old Brooklyn boy, who has been missing since a bus trip July 9 from Oneonta to Kingston, were in the Kingston area over the weekend in an effort to trace the youth.

Police were notified that William Grolz, of 1298 Halsey street was supposed to have transferred to a New York bus at Kingston when he arrived here from Oneonta. Nothing has been heard from him since.

The boy is of dark complexion, five feet, nine inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has black hair, green-cut, and brown eyes. A finger nail on the left index finger is missing.

Local police, to date, have no definite information indicating that the boy had completed the bus trip from Oneonta to this city.

The mother and aunt made inquiries at police headquarters Saturday and were due to make others along Route 28 over the weekend after leaving here.

others off their feet and all went plummeting into the crevasse. That was just before 4 p. m. Tom Pfau, 35, of Salem, Ore., who saw them fall, hurried to them. They were crying and meowing, and all were helplessly entangled in their rope.

He cut the rope, pulled some from the pile then went down the mountain for help.

RESCUE EFFORTS were organized swiftly. The U. S. Air Force sent a plane to drop food and other medical supplies and the Royal Canadian Air Force sent a helicopter able to operate at high altitudes, to McChord Air Force Base, Wash., to be ready for a call.

Veteran forest ranger and mountain climber Ralph Wieser led the first party to the scene. Mountaineers, hearing the mishap, drove here in a steady stream and started up with stretchers and supplies.

Only two of the party could walk. They were Louise L. Kuflik, about 13, of Forrest Hills, L. I., N. Y., and Bunny Rockland of New York. Louise said that "some of the kids you couldn't even see after they had landed in a heap."

Ronald G. Heinrich, 23, of Clear Lake, Ia., one of the tour leaders, said the group sank and cried and sometimes screamed as they lay three hours in the crevasse awaiting help. And all the while sickening—and deadly—sulphur fumes swirled near them from vents going deep into the ancient volcano.

Heinrich had started out on the tour with a group of eight youngsters. Patricia Gaffney of New York—all of the addresses were known only vaguely here—led another party of eight. They had traveled to about the same places—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Yosemite they linked forces here for the climb, engaging Carl Schnoor of Portland to lead them.

The Heinrich group planned to return to Portland by car. The other group had brought their bicycles up and had planned to ride the mountain on the bikes today, using the loop highway. Then both were to have headed for the Canadian Rockies.

Radio communications up the mountain were restricted to emergency use so details were learned slowly. It was midnight before any of the injured reached the lodge and they went so swiftly to an ambulance it was not certain who all of them were.

Milk Car Driver Reports Girl Jumped Off Span

A resident of the Rifton area saw a young dark-haired girl leap to her death early this morning from the middle of the George Washington bridge.

Joseph Feraca, 40, of RD 2, New Paltz, a driver for Turco Dependable Milk Transportation, Morton Boulevard, said he was proceeding across the bridge about 2 a. m. to make a delivery of milk in New York city when he saw a girl climbing over the railing.

He blew his horn at the girl, whom he described as 18 or 20, wearing black slacks and sweater, but she did not turn her head. He could see her profile very clearly, he said.

Mr. Feraca said he notified a bridge policeman about a hundred feet away but before they could return to the spot, about mid-way across the bridge, the girl had jumped. Bridge police reportedly saw the girl disappear over the side.

Mr. Feraca said the harbor police had been notified and were searching the river for the girl's body.

He told The Freeman the girl must have been walking, that he saw no car parked on the bridge.

Mr. Feraca, who is married and has two children, was at one time a "chaser" for the Daily News in New York city. As a "chaser" he did just that—chasing news with one of the tabloid's photographers as a kind of assistant.

BUT A MORE moderate attitude prevailed among officials of the British foreign office than in the press regarding the use of military force.

A post-luncheon meeting of the three negotiators was postponed, presumably for Murphy to await instructions from Washington.

The three were due to get together at 6 p. m. (noon EST) after Pineau and Murphy had had separate talks with Eden.

IF THE THREE powers settled upon the international control board plan, preparations would then be made to call for a conference of the world's chief sea powers to put into effect.

In Cairo, U. S. Ambassador Henry Byroade met with Nasser for 90 minutes. It was their first talk together since the United States announced 10 days ago the withdrawal of its offer to help finance Egypt's Aswan high dam. The two met at Nasser's request. Neither side indicated the topic of the conference.

Fisherman Hooks Friend at Shokan

Three men were fishing from a boat at Ashokan Reservoir Saturday morning when the pike went slightly mad and started biting as if they hadn't had a square meal in a week.

Donald Stern, 31, of Port Ewen, boated a 30-inch pike weighing 10 pounds after a short struggle.

Mr. Stern's two companions, Robert Kelder of Third avenue, and Benson Freese, of Catskill, all IBM employees, also began to get heavy strikes and in the excitement Mr. Freese accidentally hooked Mr. Stern with a plug in the back of the neck near the shoulder.

Mr. Stern was treated by area physician but the hook broke off and he was taken to Kingston Hospital. It was removed so neatly that not even a stitch had to be taken, it was reported.

The three men were fishing in the lower basin of the reservoir near the dividing weir at the time of the mishap.

Mollet Is Supported On Rebellion Funds

Paris, July 28 (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet today won a vote of confidence from the French National Assembly on a borrow-and-tax plan to help pay for France's fight against rebellion in Algeria.

The unofficial count was 273-163. There were three absences. It was Mollet's 24th vote of confidence.

The government's loan and tax proposal seeks to raise 150 billion francs (about 428 million dollars) to support its campaign against Algerian Nationalists.

It is hoped the money can be raised by a loan, but if not the government says new sales taxes will have to provide it. It is believed that response to the loan will not be great enough.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Perhaps some folks remember the following incident which was written up in the January 3, 1907 Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal. "A number of West Shore passengers bound for Kingston had a terrifying experience while crossing the Hudson river in the ferryboat, Buffalo, at New York, Monday evening.

The boat was in midstream, when she was run into by another vessel, and splinters flew. The other boat backed off and steamed away, leaving the scene of the accident, without waiting to see what damage was done. There was great panic aboard the ferryboat as the extent of the damage could not be determined quickly and the shores were hidden by a dense fog.

After a time it was finally found that the damage was above the water line and the ferry proceeded to Weehawken safely. Among those on the ferry from here were: Mrs. Adolph Israel and daughter, (the family lived at 155 Broadway, according to Kingston directory of 1905-6). Adolph Israel, was a bookkeeper at I. N. Weiner's, wholesale liquor dealer, 15-17 Hasbrouck avenue. There was a Miss Alice

A. Israel, stenographer, Frank J. employed in New York city, and Milton J. worked at the Standard Pattern Co. Another passenger on the ferryboat was John W. Heaney, president and manager of the Cornell Knitting Co. who lived at 29 Orchard street and a Ned Shultz.

There is an interesting item in the March 7th, 1907 local paper, "Eugene Purdy was sent west in 1886 by the Children's Aid Society of New York, one of a carload of waifs and was later adopted by Henry Berning, a farmer of Chillicothe, Mo. At the time, Purdy was 8 or 10 years old, but he remembered little of his prior life. As time went on, Purdy returned from the Klondike gold rush last October (1906) with over $150,000 which he had made in some 6 years of gold mining. He then learned from the Children's Aid Society that he had two brothers, older than himself, who also were sent out for adoption before he left the home. He also heard of a sister who it is said once lived at Binghamton. Unable to find any trace of her, he returned from the Klondike.

"Purdy started to write letters in all directions and sent many telegrams to all clues he ran down but could not find his brothers or sister. L. W. Holste, of the Children's Aid Society of New York wrote him: "Your name on our books is Eugene Purdy, and you came to us April 13, 1886. I think, the Home of the Friendless, Kingston, N. Y. You were entered as 10 years old and an orphan. That would mean you were born about 1876. We heard once, in 1893, from a Mrs. Jessie Irons, Binghamton, N. Y. who claimed to be your sister. I answered her and gave her your address, but never heard further." Purdy, at the time repeated inquiries at the Kingston institution, but received no reply. He wrote several letters to his sister, and even employed a Kingston lawyer, to make the search for his sister but the lawyer was also unsuccessful. Mr. Purdy said at the time: "The first thing I want to do is to find my brothers and sister. After that I intend to devote some time to investigating of what becomes of the thousands of foundlings sent from New York to western states. They are all over the country, and range all the way from tramps to millionaires. I met a number of them in Alaska."

Peron in Panama

Panama, July 28 (AP)—Juan D. Peron, the former dictator of Argentina, returned to Panama from Nicaragua today by commercial plane. Peron absented himself from Panama, his place of exile, during the meeting of American presidents here last weekend. It was reported that Argentina's provisional president, Pedro Aramburu, had demanded Peron's absence from the country as a condition to Aramburu's attendance at the conference of presidents.

250 Inmates Pull
Sit-Down Strike
In Connecticut

Wethersfield, Conn., July 28 (AP)—About 250 inmates staged a sit-down strike at the state prison last night "to bring our problems before the public." Gov. Abraham Ribicoff promised them the chance.

Ribicoff summoned the Board of Prison Trustees to a special meeting today to hear the complaints. The prisoners had asked and won a concession from Warden George C. Cummings that two Connecticut legislators would also be present.

THE SIT-DOWN strike started at 7:45 o'clock last night when the prisoners refused to return to their cells after the evening outdoor recreation period. When the gong rang, they sat down on the ground and demanded that four newspaper men be sent for to hear their grievances from a committee they had chosen. Cummings agreed and summoned representatives from the Hartford Courant, Hartford Times, New Haven Journal-Courier and the Bridgeport Sunday Herald.

As the newsmen arrived, the prisoners shouted demands for the release from "isolation" of Leroy Nash, 51, serving 25 to 30 years for shooting a Danbury police captain in 1947 while being questioned in connection with the theft of an automobile.

NASH WAS released and some of the prisoners drifted into the cell blocks while their committee, including two lifers and several other long term convicts went with the newsmen to the prisoners' chapel to tell their story.

This was shortly after midnight and prison authorities belied the difficulty over with until it flared anew shortly before 1 a. m. then Cummings summoned State Police.

Bats do not build nests. They merely hook the claws of their hind feet into a wall or ceiling and hang upside down.

"I'm willing to move out tomorrow. There's no question about it. Sorry things turned out this way."

As they did, Cummings cryptically told the departing prisoners:

FLEXIBLE POLICY
A recent cartoon shows Uncle Sam perched on a huge nuclear bomb. Buzzing about his head is a fly tagged "Small War." The caption on the cartoon is: "What if a Fly Swatter Is Needed?"
Allowing for a cartoonist's privilege of exaggeration, this sums up rather well a dilemma facing the nation: Should we reduce our armed forces and go all-out for nuclear weapons, or should we retain enough conventional warpower to deal with outbreaks short of major conflict?

The problem is by no means a simple one. Nor does it involve military considerations alone. Its economic aspects are of decided importance. The effect of our policy on the morale of our allies must be carefully weighed.
The President seems to be leaning toward the idea of manpower cuts. If we move too far in that direction, however, we will seriously hamper our capability to fight a "small" war in which nuclear weapons would be less effective than conventional weapons. The knotty fact at the heart of the matter is that during the foreseeable future the nation must have a flexible policy and flexible means to handle trouble wherever it arises.

The fact that the United States does not now have a settled policy is clear, in view of the running controversy among high military officials. Admiral Radford's tentative proposal of an 800,000-man cut in the armed forces has focused a white light on sharp differences of opinion. The only man who can resolve these differences is President Eisenhower.

THE G. I. BILL
The G.I. Bill of Rights expires this month. It was the most ambitious program of education ever undertaken. Thousands of young Americans, who might not otherwise have had the opportunity, received college educations or on-the-job training. This program was a reward a grateful country conferred on Americans who had served it well. The men and women who entered classrooms and training sessions under the G.I. Bill received a great deal more than they would have from any cash bonus plan. They will continue to benefit as long as they live.

But it was not only the veterans who gained from the G.I. Bill. Thousands of teachers, doctors, lawyers and engineers are practicing their professions today who received G.I. training. Skilled mechanics and other craftsmen would be in even shorter supply had it not been for the G.I. Bill. Thus the country as a whole has reaped benefits from the G.I. program.

The G.I. Bill cost about 14 and one-half billion dollars, an enormous sum of money. Yet few investments the American people have undertaken were more wisely made.

FBI COULD DETER KIDNAPERS
Under present law the FBI can enter a kidnaping case when the victim is known to have been transported over state lines, or in any event after seven days, by which time it is assumed he has been so transported.

It is a pity the law does not make that assumption immediately. The knowledge that the FBI is the instant adversary might discourage most would-be kidnapers from perpetrating this cruel crime.

Those who have followed the current Peter Weinberger kidnaping on Long Island realize afresh the terrible anguish it brings to the victim's family. It hardly seems enough that penalties are extreme. Many must wish that the fullest resources of the law could be thrown against kidnapers from the outset.

The FBI has a brilliant record of 457 solutions out of 459 kidnapings over the years. But either the newest perpetrators don't read statistics or they were too desperate or foolhardy to care.

Most likely they will be caught. It would have been better had they been afraid to try.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
IKE AND DICK
Standing on the Great Barrington station waiting for a train to arrive, I overheard the conversation of two ladies and a man on the subject of Ike's health. The point they made was that it is too risky to have a sick man in the White House and that even Walter Lippmann says so, which made it final.

Conversations of this nature are peculiarly illogical. Ike is too old; Nixon is too young. Ike lacks physical strength; Nixon has too much. Ike is a part-time President; Nixon is too active a Vice President. More simply stated, it all comes down to this: Eisenhower and Nixon are Republicans and the Democrats are conducting a campaign to defeat them.

Realistically Ike's heart and ileum are the campaign issues. The Democrats have not yet discovered the one slogan that could defeat Eisenhower, but they have his intestines to work on. Averell Harriman has an issue: it is that he is the only man with Presidential aspirations who has never been soft on Communism and had to back-track, but he might have stuck to his guns, for when nearly everybody in official Washington was weak on Communism, Harriman, as Ambassador to Soviet Russia, was sending back dispatches indicating a correct understanding of the problem. I quote a few sentences from Harriman's dispatches from the State Department report on the Malta and Yalta Conferences:

(Russian policy involved the use of a) "... a wide variety of means at their disposal—occupations troops, secret police, local Communist parties, labor unions, sympathetic leftist organizations, sponsored cultural societies, and economic pressure—to assure the establishment of regimes which, while maintaining an outward appearance of independence and of broad popular support, actually depend for their existence on groups responsive to all suggestions emanating from the Kremlin. ..."

Harriman reported this before anyone in official Washington publicly admitted that Stalin had jobbed the United States. Harriman could use his messages in the public domain and he probably could gain some support on the Communist issue.

Can anti-Communism be a great issue in 1956? I doubt it. In 1952, anti-Communism was the property of an esoteric group of devoted fanatics, like myself, who had discovered the spies and subversives and shouted against Stalin from the housetops. In 1956, about everybody is an anti-Communist. It is as fashionable in 1956 to spit upon the memory of Stalin and to regard American Communists as funny nuisances as in 1952, there was a tendency to dislike anti-Communists.

Joe McCarthy. Therefore, "soft on Communism" will not be an issue in this campaign no matter who is nominated.
Richard Nixon started his political upswing as a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The hatred for him in certain circles originates in the fact that he more than any other member of this Committee, except Karl Mundt, persisted in the examination of witnesses with greater intelligence and a keener understanding than the usual Congressional Committee. Among the witnesses was Alger Hiss.

Alger Hiss made a very good impression on the Committee, but Nixon persisted. I wish to cite a few paragraphs to show Nixon's persistence:
"Mr. Hiss. I have just a few more questions, Mr. Hiss."

"The point at issue in this hearing today is whether or not you knew Crozier under the circumstances that you have indicated to the Committee or whether you knew Crozier under the circumstances he indicated to the Committee. After your testimony in public session the Committee started on the premise that you did not know Chambers and that premise, of course, now has been changed. We do have agreement on the point that you and Mr. Chambers were acquainted under another name."

"Mr. Hiss. I did not know Chambers. The name means nothing to me and I so informed your Committee by wire. And so testified."

"Mr. Hiss. You understood, Mr. Hiss, I think, that I said under another name."

"Mr. Hiss. Yes."

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
STRESS, EMOTIONS, AND CARDIOVASCULAR DISEASE

"Cardiovascular" is a word frequently used in medical terminology and it means pertaining to the heart and blood vessels. The term comes from the Latin word "cardiacus" meaning heart and "vas" meaning a vessel. In an unusual article in Modern Medicine of Canada, Drs. L. E. Hinkle, Jr., and Harold G. Wolff, state in an article on stress, emotions, and cardiovascular disease that during periods of special need, the human organism may exhibit a general mobilization for action. When a healthy man runs upstairs or exercises vigorously, the output of blood from his heart increases with each beat, and heart rate increases, blood pressure goes up, and the amount of resistance offered to the flow of blood by the tiny vessels in some of the tissues of the body is decreased. Such reactions, by insuring a good supply of blood to muscle, serve to make his efforts more effective.

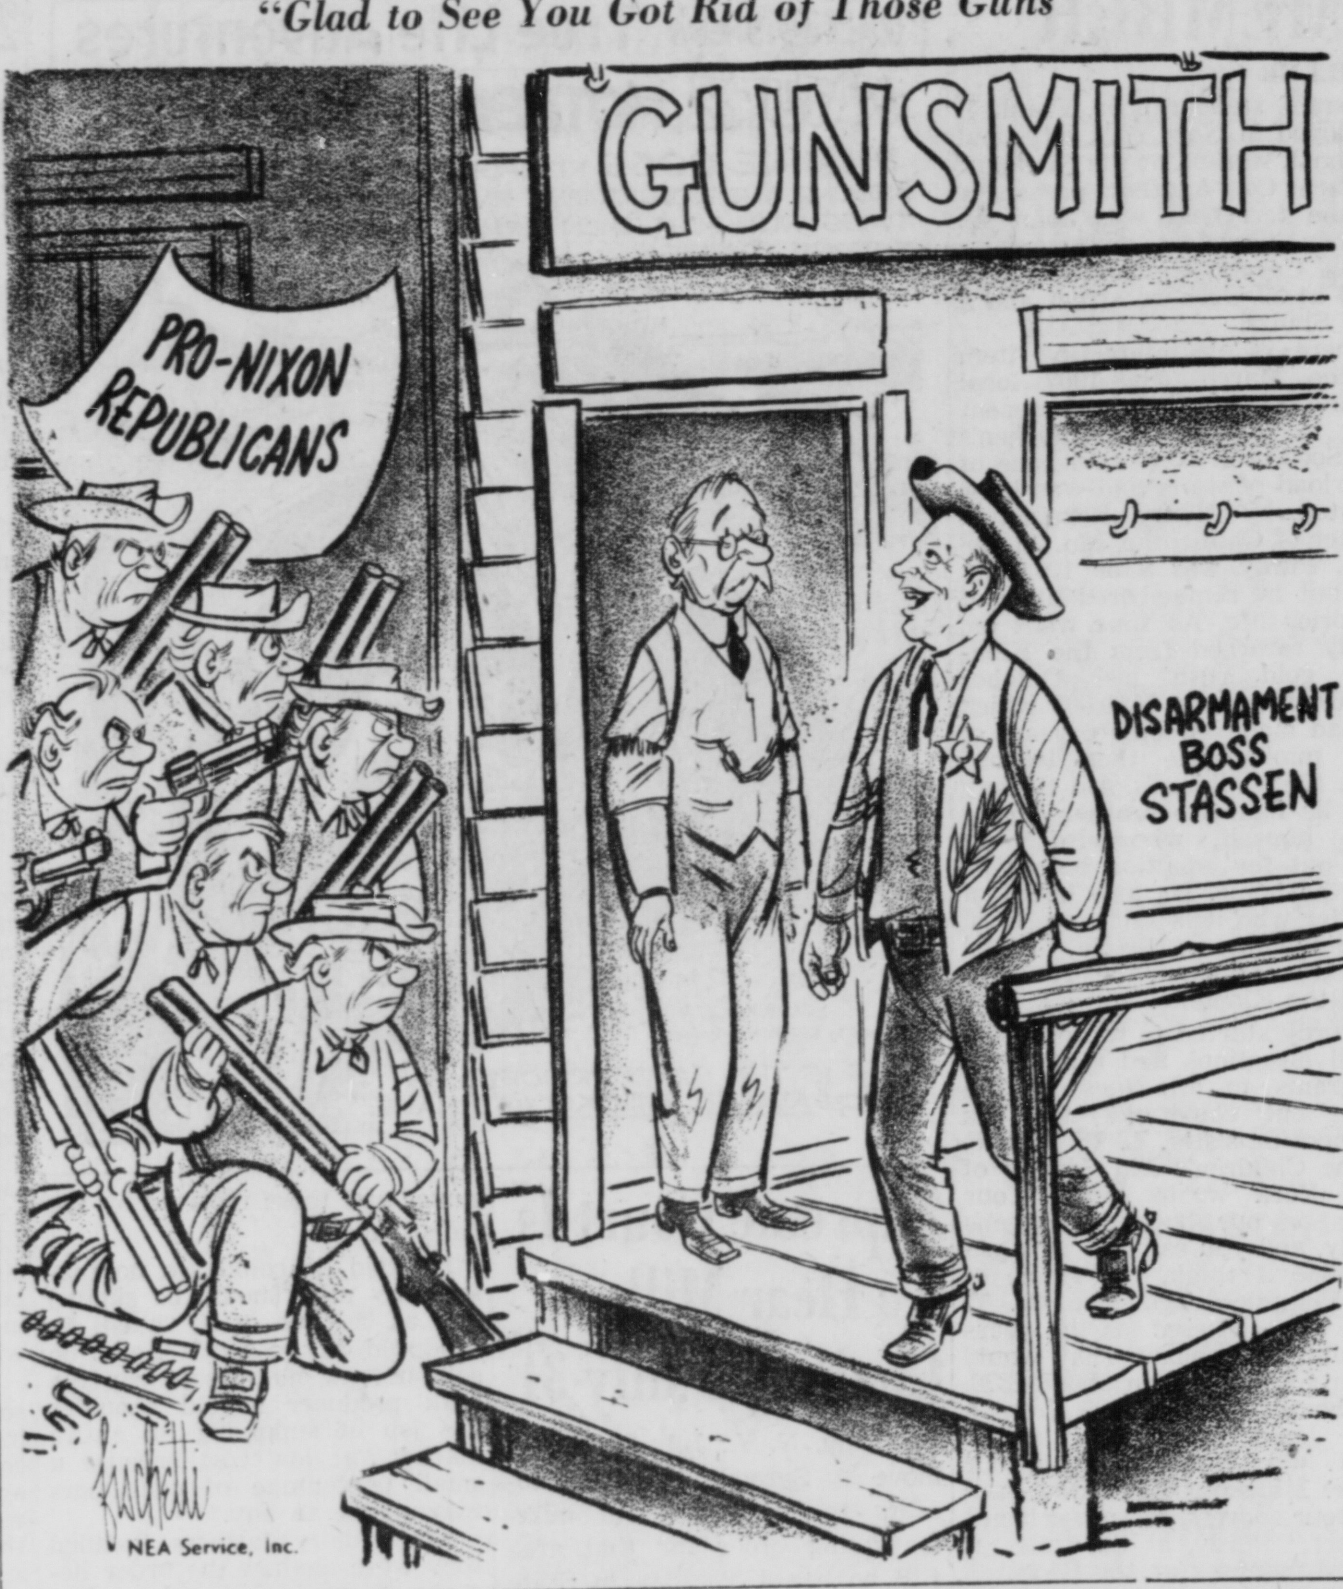

During an anxiety-inducing interview in which an important relationship to another person was discussed, a patient acted as though he were running upstairs or engaging in battle. He complained of pounding heart and breathlessness. Climbing testing steps further increased his already high stroke volume and heart rate. As the patient's over-all adjustment improved, his circulatory status also benefited so that a year later the same effort produced a minimal but effective response.

A hypertensive (high blood pressure) man who apparently loved but actually hated his mother presented a bland exterior during an interview concerning her attitudes, but his blood pressure rose as did the resistance offered to the passage of blood by the vessels of many of his organs. His blood became more sticky and clotted more readily. His head ached severely and the muscles of his back became cramped. Thus, this man with high blood pressure was meeting what to him was danger by being alert and ready for an action which was never carried out.

In considering these matters in greater detail, it would appear that any function of man's cardiovascular system which is affected by nerves or by glands may be altered during changes in behavior and may be affected during reactions to people, events, and situations in his social surroundings. Changes in feeling states and cardiovascular alterations are both parts of the way a person reacts to what confronts him. Another point we must keep in mind is that changes in cardiovascular function (use) can take place in response to threatening life situations in persons who show no outward evidence of any emotional disturbance.

Tomorrow, we will consider some of the common cardiovascular reactions which occur during life stresses.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington, (NEA) — With Congress winding up its session, there are the usual conflicting claims by Republicans and Democrats over which party deserves credit for doing the most.

This puts considerable strain on the discriminating voter. He may be perfectly willing to give the Eisenhower administration full credit for good programs it initiated.
At the same time he may want to give the Democrats who were in control of both houses of Congress—the credit due them for their part of the record.

Thus the Eisenhower administration can take credit for initiating the biggest highway construction program in the U. S. history. But what the President proposed was a 25-billion-dollar program financed by bond issues.
The Eisenhower administration initiated an increase in minimum wages. But it must be remembered that the Congress refused to accept the President's recommendation for a raise from 75 to 90 cents an hour, and made it a full dollar.

The administration rates an "A" for attempts to get the government out of competition with private enterprises. This effort was blocked, however, by the Congress reserving to itself the right to reject any proposal to close down a government operation which it wanted to keep going in any locality.

THE ADMINISTRATION made a sincere effort to continue its military assistance and foreign economic aid programs at a high level. This was rejected by an isolationist-minded Congress which insisted on cutting appropriations.

On the other hand, Democratic leaders tried to force on the administration larger Air Force appropriations than Department of Defense officials had asked for.

Voters can censure or praise these records according to tastes and convictions.
Under the system of checks and balances of one branch of government by another, there are some things to be said in favor of having Congress controlled by one party and the Executive controlled by the other.

This may prevent some excesses. But it can also lead to doing-nothing stalemates.

So They Say..

We may live on opposite sides of the Mason-Dixon Line... but we are still brothers and Americans. Tell that old gentleman (Albert Woolson, Duluth, Minn., last surviving Union soldier) I'm praying for him to get well.

Gen. John Salling, 110, Virginia's last living Confederate veteran.
It (Army - Air Force feud) should be subject to public sentiment instead of handled in a carefully-insulated room in the Pentagon.

Questions -- Answers

Q—What Spanish author was once captured by pirates?
A—In 1575 Miguel de Cervantes was captured. For five years he was kept a prisoner, but was finally ransomed through the efforts of friends.

Q—Did all Western Hemisphere republics sign the Act of Chapultepec in 1945?
A—All the countries of the Americas except Argentina signed. The act provided that if any one of the signing countries was attacked, the others would come to its aid.

Q—In what city was the first nickelodeon opened?
A—In Pittsburgh, 1905.

Boy Is Missing

New York, July 30 (AP)—A 12-year-old Brewster, N. Y., boy bicycling to this city has been reported missing.
The boy, Joseph Marinaccio, of 50 Carmel avenue, Brewster, was last seen Friday in a diner on Route 100 that he was going to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Helen Tringone, at 2432 Fish avenue, the Bronx. Motorists reported seeing the boy on Route 100 about 30 miles north of White Plains, N. Y., police said.

Says Harriman Best

Canandaigua, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—The Democratic state chairman says that with Gov. Harriman as its presidential candidate, the Democratic party could offer "a clear-cut alternative to the Eisenhower middle-of-the-road philosophy of moderation."

Michael H. Prendergast said yesterday at a picnic of the Ontario county Democratic committee that "we will never win in November by riding the GOP elephant to the polls." He termed Harriman "the best qualified Democrat for the presidency."

Present Congress Is Labeled Most Extravagant of All Time

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington, July 30—How can the American people get the whole story of what really happened in the 84th Congress which just ended? How can they protect themselves in the future against wanton betrayal of the public interest by an extravagant Congress?

For despite all the boasts about the "fine record" and the speed with which many laws were passed, the truth is this was a "give-away" Congress unprecedented in history. There was a supreme indifference to the fact that there are limits to what the taxpayer can afford. No attention was paid to the prospect that the burdens imposed in these times will prove unbearable in a period of economic recession.

MOST NOTORIOUS in this session were the brazen examples of "log-rolling"—the deals by which many members of Congress support each other's projects on a plain basis of "you vote for my project and I'll vote for yours."
More than $60 billions were appropriated for this fiscal year but commitments were authorized that will mean billions more annually later on. It involved the widest variety of legislative items, but self-serving materialism was the note that ran through most of all of them.

Congress was so reckless in its spending mood that it actually appropriated $900,000,000 more for airplane production than the Executive asked for and now the air force is scrambling around trying to find ways to spend the money. This benefits, of course, the senators and representatives who come from states where these military appropriations are spent but it does seem fantastic that $900,000,000 can be appropriated when there isn't even a planned military project in existence on which to spend it.

ALL THIS is happening at a time when the American people are paying the highest income taxes in peace-time history. While the treasury surplus was small and was wisely applied to cutting down the public debt, there could have been a sizeable tax reduction this year if the Congress had decided to refrain from so much spending. It could have avoided at least $5 billion to $7 billion of extra spending.

Actually non-defense spending has increased by about $5 billion a year since the ending of the Korean war. As soon as armament expenditures are cut down, Congress thinks of many ways to spend what is saved.
FEW MEMBERS of Congress went home this time without something to which they could point with pride — government money for their constituencies. Some of the projects—like the law to build new roads—required some taxes to be paid by the users to help meet the costs of construction but many of the projects are local or regional and cannot be justified as national. The idea that local communities or adjacent states should join in paying for these improvements seems to a large extent to have been ignored.

The spending for farm programs was obviously political. The farmers now get about $5 billions a year from the U. S. Treasury and the "soil bank" may add another $1.2 billions. If it hadn't been for the "segregation" issue there would have been a $1.6 billion appropriation for school construction. As it was $368,000,000 was voted for schools in areas where military installations have increased school populations. The excuses for invoking federal aid are growing each year.

THEN THERE were the "welfare" appropriations with a start toward medical insurance and more of the "radio-to-gravel" materialism. The administration fought some of these proposals as unsound and as likely to undermine the whole system of "social security" but was up against a political threat by those who on the stump describe any opposition to extravagant spending as "inhuman" or "hard-hearted." Yet if self-reliance and family savings are discouraged at a time of record-breaking prosperity, when is personal thrift to become logical?

Looking at the record of the 84th Congress the wonder is that so little was revealed in the press about the obvious raids on the federal treasury. One reason is that the people who know most about the projects don't like to line up against the sponsors or those who stand to benefit financially from the proposals. The local chambers of commerce either remain silent or plug for the appropriations that benefit their localities directly. Also in Congress whoever votes for a project in his own district or state is reluctant to criticize the other fellow's favorite scheme.

CERTAINLY the 84th Congress followed a system of close control by a coterie of Democratic leaders in both Houses who arbitrarily determined what should or shouldn't come to a vote. Not since the days of Speaker Cannon has such discipline been enforced on the members of the House—and lots of them knew their pet projects would get nowhere unless they obeyed the leaders and went "along with the crowd."

Congress spends loosely when the people are indifferent. And they are indifferent because they are uninformed. This is a domain in which the "right to know" crusade could do a great deal of good.

Taxpayers' revolts seem to be the logical answer, but they cannot be effective without the facts. Maybe some day a public spirited foundation—not so much interested in protecting the "civil liberties" of Communists and their dupes will put up a million dollars a year to analyze federal spending and turn a searchlight on the darkness that surrounds the waste of taxpayers' money. For this Congress, nurtured by New Deal and Fair Deal ideas, really did make some kind of a record—it gave away more money than ever before and it postponed, if it didn't actually prevent, any sizeable reduction in income taxes for years and years ahead.

Major Differences in 84th Congress Within Two Parties

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
Washington, July 30 (AP)—What Democrats and Republicans showed in the 84th Congress, just ended, was their similarity. But to hear them, from now till Election Day, you might think they were as far apart as an apple and an egg.

Any differences between them are more in degree than in kind. In this period of prosperity and relative peace, there was no public demand for new or radical changes. None was made.

AT TIMES differences within the parties seemed greater than those between them. For example: Between northern and southern Democrats and between the Republican "right" and "liberal" wings.
Voters in the past two elections showed they don't recognize much difference between the parties. In 1952 Republicans, riding President Eisenhower's coattails, were given control of the 83rd Congress by a slim majority although Eisenhower himself won overwhelmingly. In 1954 the Democrats won control by a slim majority.

The mixed-up nature of the two parties appeared in the 84th Congress, just as it did in the 83rd, but never more than in the 83rd when Eisenhower's own Republicans gave him more trouble than the Democrats.
And the Republicans, for 20 years protesting the "New" and "Fair Deal" programs, have not attempted to repeal any major one of them since Eisenhower took office. Instead, they worked to expand some of them.

FOR EXAMPLE: this year Eisenhower wanted Social Security broadened. The Democrats, who originated Social Security, broadened it more than he asked.
The minimum wage law was a product of the New Deal. Eisenhower last year wanted the minimum wage raised from 75 to 90 cents an hour. The Democrats upped it to $1.

Eisenhower offered a civil rights program. The House passed it in the closing days of the 84th Congress and it died in the Senate.
Democrats may argue that if he really wanted it put through, he should have fought harder for it and offered it earlier.

BUT NO MATTER when he offered it, it was almost certainly doomed by the Southern Democrats.

Democrats have tried to build a campaign issue by blaming the Republicans for the "giveaway" of natural resources. But they'll have a tough time convincing anyone the label doesn't apply to them, too.
It was Democrats who in the 83rd Congress led the fight to give the oil-rich offshore lands back to the states. In the 84th Congress Democrats led the way in passing a bill to take natural gas producers from under direct federal control.

Eisenhower killed this with a veto not because he was opposed to the idea but because Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) said he had been given money just before voting time.
IN FOREIGN AFFAIRS the Democrats gave Eisenhower a huge measure of support. It was some of his own Republican leaders in the Senate who gave him some of his biggest headaches in the foreign field.
Both parties may claim credit for setting up the gigantic highway building program. The best they can do is split the credit. Eisenhower wanted it, so did the Democrats. They differed on how to pay for it. The Democrats' idea of financing won out. It was on Eisenhower's plea for federal aid to education that he got one of his stiffest jolts. It was killed in the House with his own Republicans taking a major hand in the slaughter.

Cattle Breeders' Officers Slate Names Local Man

Albert S. Fox of Olive Bridge is on a slate of nominees for district director of the New York Artificial Breeders' Cooperative Inc., which will be presented at the 16th annual meeting to be held Friday during the two day annual cattle show at Ithaca.

Mr. Fox has been nominated for director of District 8.

The 487 entries received thus far for the annual show to be held under canvas on the Judd Falls road site will be the largest NYABC cattle show ever held according to Patrick J.

King, assistant cattle show superintendent.

Entries will compete in 50 different classes for $5,413 in cash prizes, plus ribbons and trophies. Other highlights include free milk for all who attend, a tent full of special exhibits of interest to dairymen, an opportunity to see the cooperative's sires now in service, a daily noontime chicken barbecue and a fast-moving program of judging according to Harold Rosa, show superintendent.

The show will get under way at 10 a. m., Friday with the junior showmanship trophy.

Long-Range Forecast

Albany, N. Y., July 30 (P)—The extended weather forecasts for New York state, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7:30 p. m. today, to 7:30 p. m. Saturday, Eastern New York—Cool weather is indicated during the 5 days, Monday night through next Saturday, with temperatures averaging 3 to 6 degrees below normal. A warming trend Tuesday and Wednesday, followed by cooler Thursday or Friday, and continued cool through Saturday. Rainfall will average 1/4 to 1/2 inch, occurring as scattered showers or thundershowers Wednesday, and again at the end of the week.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Watch Out for Tricky Discards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

East made the wrong discard in today's hand, but only a very hard taskmaster would blame him. Put yourself in his place and see if you would do better!

West opened the nine of diamonds, and South won with the queen. South next led a low heart, and West began a signal with the eight to show that he had only two hearts. Dummy put up the king of hearts, and East correctly refused the trick.

Now declarer led the jack of clubs from dummy, and East had to make a discard. What would you throw from the East hand?

East dared not part with a spade and didn't want to discard a diamond, since each diamond was a potential trick. He therefore discarded a low heart. Reasonable enough, but fatal.

South put up the ace of clubs, held the next trick with the jack of hearts, and then took his three top spades. Another heart forced East to take the ace, after which East could cash the jack of spades. But then East had only diamonds left and had to lead a diamond to dummy's king, giving dummy a second diamond trick and also an entry to the last good heart. South made game with three spades, three hearts, two diamonds, and a club.

East would have defeated the game by discarding a diamond on the jack of clubs. The play would proceed in much the same way, but East would be able to get out of the trap by leading his last heart to dummy. The king of diamonds would never make a trick, and South would win only eight tricks.

To Marry at Colgate

Hamilton, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—James J. Munro, 22 of Binghamton, an armless Colgate University senior, will marry Janet L. Borow, 21, of Bayonne, N. J., a paraplegic, Saturday. Munro lost his arms after he was burned on a 13,200-volt power line eight years ago. He met Miss Borow, who does not have use of her legs, three years ago at a rehabilitation center in East Orange, N. J. The couple will be married in the Colgate University Chapel here.

Banker, Lawyer Dies

Saylorsburg, Pa., July 29 (AP)—Sheldon L. Pollock, 51, Yonkers, N. Y., banker and lawyer, died Saturday of a heart attack at his country home near here. Pollock was chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Yonkers and served as president of the Westchester County Bankers Assn.

Jay Bee Company Affiliated With Avis Rent-a-Car

Announcement was made today by Frank B. Charnatz, general manager, Avis Rent-a-Car System, with headquarters in Boston, Mass. of the appointment of the Jay Bee Company of Port Ewen as an Avis Rent-a-Car System licensee.

The Jay Bee Company, owned and operated by P. J. Beichert and his son P. J. Beichert Jr., has been in the truck rental business since 1951 and the business has grown from two pickups to a fleet of trucks of all sizes from one-half-ton pickups to 2½-ton closed vans. Now in addition to the truck rentals, new 1956 Studebaker cars and station wagons will be available for daily, weekly and monthly rentals.

In affiliating with a national organization, such as the Avis Rent-a-Car System, the Jay Bee Company will be in a position to fulfill the needs of the traveling public who need car transportation. In a scant eight years, Avis Rent-a-Car System has grown into a million dollar organization with future potentials unlimited. Due to the boldness and foresight of one man, Warren E. Avis, a man whose belief in an idea, backed up by hard work, made the Avis System a reality. There are Avis stations, not only in all of the important cities in the United States, but throughout the world. The Jay Bee Company, through their affiliation, will be able to reserve a car for a traveler, and particularly for air travelers, in practically every city in the free world. There is absolutely no charge for this service and Mr. Beichert said today, he will be in a position to make such reservations. Mr. Beichert also stated the Jay Bee Company will be in a position to issue Avis credit cards, which are such a great convenience to the traveling public.

Headquarters, for the present, for the Avis Rent-a-Car operation will be the Port Ewen Garage, owned and operated by P. J. Beichert, for the past 20 years as a Studebaker dealer. No change in the operation of the Port Ewen Garage will be made.

Two Key Bills

Tallahassee, Fla., July 30 (AP)—Two bills concerning segregation today held the key to whether the Florida Legislature will adjourn its special session in mid-week or stay on for the legal limit of 20 days. One would set up a committee to investigate the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and other organizations, and the other would provide for local option on setting up a private school system to preserve racial segregation. Both bills come up before the House Rules Committee. Should they win clearance, they will go before the special segregation committee.

Fatally Shot

Syracuse, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—Patrolman Donald Fogarty fatally shot one man and wounded another after being called to break up a fight last night. Robert Wilson, 26, operator of a used auto parts business was killed. Leon Bassette, 31, was hospitalized in serious condition. He was shot in the abdomen. Fogarty said he was cruising in a patrol car near the city line when a motorist reported a fight was in progress on a nearby road. Police officials said there was a scuffle when Fogarty arrived and that the officer drew his revolver and fired twice.

Yesterday I met three different persons each of whom had a different story to tell. Their tales fit into America's prosperity picture and hence contribute to the country's general welfare.

The first person is a retired bank employee living on an adequate pension. He told me he hasn't a care in the world, thanks to the provision made for him by the financial institution that employed him for 48 years.

The second person, also in retirement, is a beneficiary of social security. He remarked that the monthly payments he receives perfectly supplement the income he gets from his savings. He, too, has no worries.

The third person, temporarily unemployed, is drawing compensation as a result of this situation. There was a note of confidence in his voice as he spoke of the satisfaction of getting unemployment pay.

What is the significance of the economic world of these stories?

It is that purchasing power is being maintained in three areas even though these persons are not actively contributing to the production of goods and services. And in those three fields—pensions, social security and unemployment—steady progress is being made.

GROWTH IN population is another strong prosperity force. Four million babies are being born yearly in America. Between now and 1966 and 1976 the demand for homes, furniture, telephones, radios, television sets, automobiles, food and clothing will steadily accelerate. All of the better corporations catering to the needs and desires of these people should do well.

Travel is growing by leaps and bounds. Our country soon will be spanned by superhighways. It does not take much vision to see that in the decade ahead the automobile industry, despite an occasional dip, will thrive. And of course the enterprises furnishing the oil and gas will be kept busy.

Air travel is booming. The jet plane is just around the corner. By 1966 flying from coast to coast at 500 miles an hour will be a reality. The non-stop flights from New York City to California are but a portent of what's ahead. Public spending will continue to be an important factor in the country's prosperity. Today upwards of $100,000,000 are flowing from the treasuries of the Federal, State and local governments.

Those who are looking for a depression characteristic of the dismal thirties should remember that Uncle Sam alone is spending more money every year now than everybody made then. Federal expenditures stay around 65 billions of dollars a year and in 1932 national income was only 40 billions.

FROM ALL THESE evidences of economic well-being I think that stockholders can take cheer. It is axiomatic from what has been said here that every investor should become a stockholder. Growth and common stocks are twin brothers.

Committee Says Information Is Kept From Public

Washington, July 30 (AP)—A House subcommittee says that much information about the federal government which the public should have remains hidden by a "paper curtain, now many layers thick."

"Congress should establish uniform rules on information practices," a government operations subcommittee declared Saturday night. "These rules should require full disclosure of information, except for specific exceptions defined by statute."

"The withholding should be subject to judicial review and the burden of proof should be on the official who withholds information."

THE REPORT was based on a continuing year-long study by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.). The report was approved by the parent government operations subcommittee. The subcommittee conclusions were agreed to unanimously, although Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.)

submitted some "additional views" in which he said he knows of no instance in which the courts have compelled a President to make public any information.

"The only remedy would be through publicity and at the polls," Hoffman said.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE said a great variety of methods are used to keep government information secret—some of them prescribed by Congress, some adopted by federal agencies on their own, some pursuant to presidential order.

"It is now incumbent upon Congress to bring order out of chaos," the subcommittee said. It added that as things now stand, there is "an attitude novel to Democratic government—an attitude which says that we the officials, not you, the people, will determine how much you are to be told about your own government."

THE HOUSE MEMBERS said they do not object to secrecy where it is needed to protect the national security. But they said the Defense Department has had the "most restrictive... confused" policy of handling material which should be made public. The report called for abolition of the Office of Strategic Information (OSI), set up in the Commerce Department to curb the flow of certain technical information not classified as secret militarily.

The subcommittee said there has been "the most flagrant abuse of so-called legal authority" to withhold information in the case of a May 1954 letter from President Eisenhower to Secretary of Defense Wilson. Eisenhower cited the constitutional separation of executive and legislative powers in directing Wilson not to produce certain information to a Senate subcommittee investigating the McCarthy-Army dispute.

DESCRIBING the letter as "a specific instruction... for a specific purpose and to a specific committee of the Senate," the subcommittee added: "It seems inconceivable that 19 government departments and agencies could cite this letter as a shadowy cloak of authority to restrict or withhold information from the Congress and the public."

In his supplementary views, Hoffman said the press is inconsistent because it urges full freedom of information and yet in some cases refuses to give congressional committees "the facts back of a story."

Case Adjourned

The case of Supervisor Harry Snyder (R) of the town of Marbletown, charged with alleged illegal subdivision of lands in the town of Ulster in the creation of a new street, has been adjourned until 11 a. m. Tuesday, Aug. 7, by Justice of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt. Mr. Snyder is charged with subdividing lands in the Lucas avenue extension without approval of the town board of Ulster planning board for a new street. Attorney Arthur B. Ewig is counsel for the defendant. Louis DiDonna represents the office of the district attorney.

Smudge Pot Fire

Firemen were called at 8:47 p. m., Friday to extinguish a fire at the residence of Dr. Harold Rakov, 117 Albany avenue, caused by an overturned oil smudge pot. The hedge and awning over the patio were damaged, the report said, and the fire was extinguished with a garden hose and chemicals. Engines 1 and 3, Truck 4 and the Salvage Truck.

Mushroom Crops Flourish in Air-Conditioned Caves of City

Food Locker Test Used By Sturges on Method Old Lime and Cement Tunnels Put To Production of Sensitive Delicacy

Deep under Kingston for centuries nature was busy conditioning lime rock in the "Rosendale Deposit," making it suitable for the manufacture of cement.

Great subterranean caves were left when the Newark Lime and Cement Company ceased its mining operation in the North Rondout section of the city.

For years these great caverns remained unused. Today they are again in use for mushroom growing by Knaust Brothers, Inc., and once again, with engineering assistance by Paul M. Sturges, industrial consultant of Stone Ridge, nature is cooperating on another conditioning process, that of air conditioning the mushroom caverns.

HEAT STORED up in the rocky limestone walls and a huge underground lake have been harnessed to produce air conditioning for the mushroom caverns which exist on the Ponckhockie section of the city just off Delaware avenue.

In this conditioning process nature is being aided by modern technological knowledge and knowhow.

Sturges worked for some time on a "heat exchange" theory at a food locker which he formerly operated, and eventually designed and installed a system in the locker whereby he utilized the heat removed in the cooling process to heat water and warm the plant work rooms and office in winter, thereby saving a quantity of fuel oil formerly used in the heating of the building and for large quantities of water required in processing produce.

MUSHROOMS ARE perhaps more sensitive to excessive heat, cold and humidity than are humans.

Some time ago the Knaust Brothers hit upon a process for sterilizing mushroom bed soil at a central plant and transporting it to another location where the temperamental mushrooms could best be grown.

It then became possible to use the old abandoned cement tunnels which honeycomb much of the North Rondout section of Kingston and the Rosendale area.

For several years these caverns have been used as mushroom farms. However in warm, humid summer weather the crop was not up to par. In winter it took considerable fuel oil to heat the tremendous caverns to the proper temperature. Excessive humidity, a breeder of mushroom enemies, had to be constantly battled at all seasons.

TEMPERATURE could be controlled quite closely in winter with steam heating. In summer it was difficult to maintain the proper cool temperature and at all seasons the problem of excessive humidity was present, even though ventilating ducts were opened up. Intake of outside air in summer raised the temperature of the caves and increased humidity, and great volumes of pure air are necessary for proper growing of mushrooms. Tunnel walls were constantly wet and floors were damp and muddy.

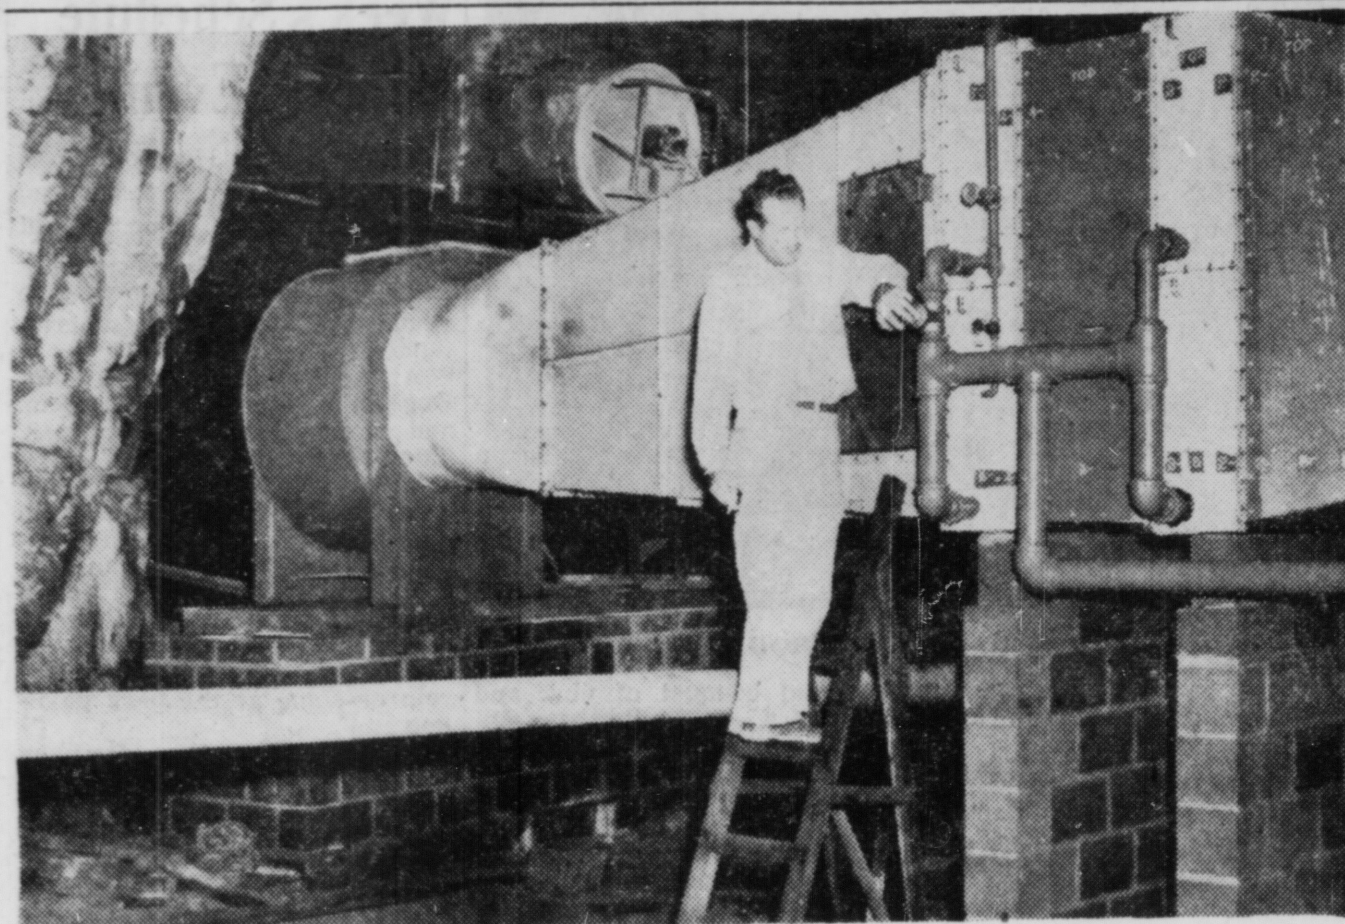

Conventional air conditioning would cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to install and operate and maintenance costs would be tremendous.

STURGES APPROACHED the Knaust Brothers company with a proposal that he install an experimental plant in the Kingston caverns based on the principle that cold stored up in the deep underground lake in winter could be released in summer for cooling and heat stored in rock in summer could be released in winter for warming the caves.

In the process of using the two forces of nature, heat and cold, in reverse he also set up a ventilation system whereby the tunnels are given an adequate supply of fresh air free of excessive moisture.

A survey showed the rock formation held great quantities of heat and the huge 30 million gallon underground lake had an inexhaustible supply of cold water.

USING THESE forces of nature the plant is now in operation. Installation costs were very modest, operating costs are low due to the harnessing of nature.

"Nature works against you unless you work with it," a member of the Knaust firm said to a Freeman reporter who visited the Delaware avenue cavern and observed the air-conditioning plant in operation.

A representative of the company, which is the world's largest producer of cavern grown mushrooms, and also a producer of surface grown mushrooms, said the installation of the air-conditioning system had "vastly improved" growing conditions and he also commented on the "flexibility of the system."

"Through the use of rocks, water and air, which is moved from one place to another as needed, humidity which is harmful to the crop has been reduced and temperature brought under control," said a company representative.

Mushrooms are "fresh air fiends" demanding a constant supply of clean, fresh air. To bring in the necessary volume of unconditioned air from outside in summer raised the temperature of the caves, and in winter outside air was usually too cold temperatures in summer to the proper level, raise the temperature in winter to the right stage for growing mushrooms and remove excess humidity both summer and winter has been put into operation by Sturges with a maximum consumption of 18½ horse power of electric energy.

OUTSIDE AIR drawn in by a fan is first chilled by the rocks, then cooled further by cold water spray and then chilled by two big coils. Excess moisture is extracted in this cooling process.

When air conditioning through use of the pumps, water spray and big 10½ foot chilling coils is not required, the system will ventilate the big caverns with a maximum of 7 horse power, bringing in and exhausting 25,000 cubic feet of air per minute.

WITH NATURE supplying cold from the underground lake and from a lower level "ice cave" from which a fan draws cold air, the equivalent of 190 tons, or 190 horse power, of refrigeration is obtained in hot weather through the use of 6½ horse power of energy used to operate the two pump motors and a small motor for circulating air. Through the conditioning unit passes 20,000 cubic feet of air conditioning per minute.

During the summer water is drawn by two pumps from 200 feet down in the 1,200 foot long underground lake where the water is coolest. In winter the pumps will draw the warmer water from the surface to help warm the caves. It is expected the present consumption of 3,000 gallons of fuel oil will be cut in half or if conditions are right use of fuel oil for heating will be further reduced. In the past a 100 horse power Ames steam generator using a five horse power motor for forced draft has been used for heating in winter.

WHEN THE OUTSIDE air is the right temperature for use in the caves and there is no need for cooling, the refrigeration unit shuts off automatically and only the ventilation fans and a small half horsepower operated fan, which runs constantly, are in operation.

Prior to installation of the air conditioning unit the caves were ventilated by three exhaust shaft openings leading to the surface and as the warm air left the caves through these shafts it was replaced by cooler air from the tunnel entrances. When the inside air and outside air balanced there was practically no movement of air in the caves and the air became stale. This "gravity" system is now replaced by a forced air system which exhausts 25,000 cubic feet of air per minute and that amount of fresh air is drawn in to replace the exhausted air. This forced draft ventilation requires but seven horsepower, including the necessary one horsepower which is used to circulate air from the front of the caves to the rear to prevent stagnation of air there, and a small one-half horsepower motor to draw cold air from the ice caves.

When the air conditioner, washer coils and supply fan goes off and the cave entrance doors are open to admit cool air a three horsepower, 60-inch surge fan cuts in to move 43,000 cubic feet of air a minute in addition to the smaller exhaust outlet fans. One of these ventilating shafts exists in Hasbrouck Park far from the cave entrance and the site of the other exhaust outlets.

A VENTILATING conduit 600 feet long is used to move 8,000 cubic feet of cool, fresh air to a rear chamber of the mine to maintain circulation. This requires a one horsepower motor.

A visit to the Delaware avenue caves last week by a Freeman reporter found the big underground caverns cool, dry and hundreds of trays of apparently healthy mushrooms thriving in the world's first air conditioned mushroom caverns.

A study of the other caverns operated by Knaust Brothers in the Rosendale area is now being made to ascertain whether a similar system is feasible in those caves.

BRIDAL SHOWERS

A girl writes: "Two other girls and myself are planning to give a shower for a friend who is to be married shortly. They want to invite both men and women friends of the bride and groom to the shower. Every shower that I have ever been to, was strictly for the girl friends of the bride and the men would drop in later for refreshments. I would like to know if such a shower is in order?"

I agree with you that it would be in very bad taste to invite men to a shower, especially one to which the guests bring wearing apparel for the bride. Men should drop in later only to take their best girls home.

Visiting Friend in the City

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to spend two weeks with some friends who live in a big city. This will be my first trip to this city and we will probably be doing a lot of sightseeing as well as eating out a good deal. I would like to know just what my obligations are in regard to paying my share.

Answer: Everything they suggest and take you to they would pay for as you are their guest. If, however, there are several special things you would like to see and you suggest, then you could pay.

Can She Ask Him First?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever permissible for a girl to take the first step and invite a young man to her house for dinner before he has asked her for a date?

Answer: It would be perfectly proper for her to invite him anytime she is asking other people—but do not invite him alone.

Should a gentleman remove his hat in an elevator? This and many other questions are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Former Local Girl Is Program Director In Fairbanks, Alaska

Miss Connie Reppert, formerly of Kingston, is at Ladd Air Force Base in Fairbanks, Alaska, where she is recreation leader and program director in Special Services, Yukon Command headquarters. She is on two-year assignment.

Miss Reppert graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1950. She will be remembered as "Jo," in Little Women, the senior play of that year. She received her A.A. degree from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and her B.A. degree from the State University of Iowa in Iowa City.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reppert of Elkins, W. Va., formerly of this city.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH T. SCHOONMAKER

Loretta Melbert Wed Saturday, July 21

Mrs. Loretta Melbert, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Sauer, became the bride of Joseph T. Schoonmaker, Saturday, July 21 at 1:30 p. m., at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Francis X. Toner performed the ceremony.

Theodore Riccoboni was at the organ and Miss Patricia Keefe was the soloist. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Sauer, wore a ballerina length gown of bluish pink nylon with matching headpiece and short circular veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses with white satin ribbon showers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Christopher J. Perry, Jr., wore a light blue nylon ballerina length gown with matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and carnations with pink satin ribbon showers.

Christopher J. Perry Jr., was best man. Serving as ushers were Roy Melbert and William D. Meisenholder.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Capri for approximately 100 guests.

The couple will reside at 41 Derrenbacher street when they return from a wedding trip to Canada.

Summer Stage

Edith Gresham, who will play the Dowager Empress in "Anastasia" at the Woodstock Playhouse from Tuesday through Sunday is no stranger to Woodstock audiences, as it is the third time she has been here.

Since her last appearance at Woodstock in "Black Chiffon" Miss Gresham has been overseas with the "Oklahoma" company and this past season she was on Broadway in "Debut." Miss Gresham has made many Broadway appearances including the Norman Bel Geddes production of "Hamlet," "The Woman," "Three is a Family" and others.

She has been in the cast of touring productions including that of "On Borrowed Time" and "Skylark" with the late Gertrude Lawrence. Her radio and TV appearances have been innumerable. Incidentally, the theater's influence goes way back in Miss Gresham's ancestry. Her father and mother were both of the theatre and her grandfather on her mother's side, John Ford, was owner of and producer in the famous Ford's Theatre where Lincoln was assassinated.

Herbert Ratner seen as one of the henchmen, has been a member of the cast of no less than twenty Broadway plays, including such hits as "Darkness at Noon," "Richard I and III," "Native Son," "Man in White," etc. He has appeared in many motion pictures for MGM, RKO, 20th Century and Universal.

His TV appearances number well over 100. Appearing as Anastasia will be Michael Myers who has done so many different roles this season. Gerald McGonagill will be seen as the audacious leader of the swindling aristocrats and Jack Wilson as the second henchman. Others in the cast will be Bill Berger, Richard H. Farmer, W. Zev. Putterman, Jacqueline Adair and Joanne Asch.

Tanglewood on Parade

On August 9 at Tanglewood, Lenox, Mass., simultaneous sessions of each department of the Berkshire Music Center will be in operation. The fanfare and welcome will be scheduled at 5:45 p. m., programs in the music centers at 6 p. m., lawn party at 7 p. m. and a gala concert in the Shed at 8:15 p. m.

The Boston Symphony Orchest-tra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler will play "The Russian Easter" by Rimsky-Korsakov, Chorus No. 10 by Villa-Lobos, "La Boutique Fantasque" by Rossini-Respighi and "Piano Concerto in F" by Gershwin.

Guest piano soloist will be Jesus Maria Sanroma.

Blanche Cholet Gets Lead at Cragmoor

Blanche Cholet, newcomer to Cragmoor, who gave such an outstanding performance last week in "Anastasia," has been given the lead in the Wednesday Cragmoor Playhouse production, "Personal Appearance," according to Elaine Perry and Irl Mowery, managers. Curtain is at 8:30 p. m.

Acclaimed by critics and audience alike for her poignant, heartbreaking performance as Anastasia in the story of the Russian princess, Miss Cholet will have a comedy role in sharp contrast to the forgotten wail she portrayed last week.

Last summer Miss Cholet was a member of the Paris cast of "Skin of Our Teeth" starring Helen Hayes and Mary Martin. This past winter she was seen on the television program Omnibus, when she depicted the part of Lincoln's stepmother in the story of his life. A talented, linguist, Miss Cholet spoke French before she learned English—her father was a Frenchman.

In "Personal Appearance," Miss Cholet will play the role which Gladys George created on the New York stage. The story of the play concerns the adventures of a great movie actress.

In the course of some "personal appearances," her car breaks down between Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, and she is forced to take temporary refuge in a simple Pennsylvania "tourist" home. The impact of the movie queen on this household creates situations which are hilarious.

John Mason Brown, in reviewing it for the New York Post, said: "It quite literally makes you weak with laughter."

In addition to Miss Cholet, the cast of "Personal Appearance" will include Lynn Bracewell, Dorothy Patten, Louis McKim, Gaines Kincaid, Dinnie Smith, William Gregory, Gaylord Mason, Ralph Tagger and Dorothy Stanley.

Norris-Snyder Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Norris of New Salem announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Marie, to Theron W. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snyder, 83 Gage street.

Miss Norris is an employee of the Kingston Knitting Mills.

Her fiancé is employed by the Barclay Knitwear Company.

The wedding will take place October 28.

Week's Schedule Of Park Events

Two events at Hasbrouck and one at Forsyth Park today lead off this week's schedule of events for the Kingston Department of Recreation according to Andrew J. Murphy 3d, superintendent.

At the downtown park, a Kids' Dog Show was set for 2 p. m. and a movie tonight at dusk, "Man From Bitter Ridge."

Forsyth Park, uptown, has a dance from 8 to 10 p. m., with music by Pete Ferraro and members of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, through the courtesy of the recording industry's transcription fund.

The dance is to take place rain or shine at the park pavilion.

The dog show this afternoon started a series of five sponsored by the recreation department in cooperation with Ken-L-Ration.

Other events scheduled in parks this week are:

Tuesday—Kids' Dog Show at Forsyth Park, 2 p. m.; movie at Block Park at dusk.

Wednesday—Kids' Dog Show at Block Park at 2 p. m.; movie at Colonial Gardens at dusk; square dance at Hasbrouck Park at 8 p. m. with Ctskill Mountaineers playing and calling.

Thursday—Kids' Dog Show at Cornell Park, 2 p. m. movie at Hutton Park at dusk.

Friday—Kids' Dog Show at Hutton Park, 2 p. m.

ADVERTISMENT

Listed below is the proposed list of assessments, computed at 36% of the appraised value, as determined under the recently completed revaluation program. Taxpayers may determine the appraised value by multiplying the assessed value by 2.77.

Every effort has been made to maintain a uniform standard of value on all properties in order to correct the gross inequalities which have existed in the tax roll heretofore.

We respectfully request all taxpayers to give earnest consideration and a fair examination to the results of this program. While the revaluation program was intended solely to equalize all values, it has, nevertheless, resulted in a substantial overall increase in the assessment roll. This will result in a corresponding decrease in the tax rate, subject to budgetary changes.

Any person who has good reason to believe that his property has been inequitably assessed and who wishes to obtain further information prior to Grievance Day, which will be August 14, 1956, may make an appointment for this purpose by calling the Assessor's Office, tel. 1993. Such requests for appointments should be made prior to August 8, 1956.

Kingston Post Rips Granville, 9-1 to Gain Tourney Semi-Final

Faces Yonkers Tuesday Under Arcs at Stadium

Rennie Giannuzzi struck out 18 as the Kingston Post mauled Granville, 9-1, Saturday at Hawkins Stadium in Albany to gain the semi-finals in the New York State American Legion Junior baseball championship.

Kingston will face Yonkers Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. at Dietz Stadium to determine one of the finalists for the state finals Saturday at Cooperstown. Meanwhile, Ithaca meets Rochester at Syracuse in the other semi-final match.

Giannuzzi's superlative job carried the local nine to their fourth straight tourney win. Last week they swept through three opponents to capture the District Three title.

Granville, which is the District Four king and Washington county champion, was limited to three hits. One of the blows was a double by shortstop Al Ladasky. It was saved from a shut-out by a sixth inning run.

Kingston got away to a flying start, piling up a 5-0 lead after the second inning. It tallied three in the sixth and capped the one-sided decision with a sole marker in the seventh. An oddity about the scoring was the fact that eight of the runs were registered after two were out.

ERIC BLACKWELL. Bill Chase and John Mustion paced the 11-hit assault with two safeties each. One of Mustion's blows was a triple. Frank Sammons got the other extra base hit, a triple.

Giannuzzi was the RBI leader with two. Chase, Mustion and Sammons were credited with one run driven over each.

Jon Zayachek was the starting and losing pitcher. He gave way to Nick Resatar in the middle of Kingston's fifth inning uprising. Zayachek was charged with seven hits and seven runs.

Kingston will face a formidable opponent in Yonkers. The metropolitan team has a healthy 10 game streak and is fresh from thumping the strong Bell-Tel telephone team of New York City, 11-1. That success climaxed a march through four Met clubs in District 1, 2, 9 and 10 competition.

ROMEO FIELDS. A 6-1 185 pound pitching sensation, has been named as the starting hurler by Yonkers manager Ernie Desparado. Desparado, a former standout in the Canadian-American league, revealed that Fields is studying to become a minister.

One of Field's most heralded victories was a brilliant no-hit, no-run victory over Newburgh in the sectional finals earlier this year.

Joe Ruvack, a shortstop, and Don DiChiara, a first baseman, are other stalwarts on the squad. Both have been granted baseball scholarships. Ruvack to Cornell and DiChiara to Colgate.

McGrath Annexes Rhinebeck Race

Tom McGrath of Pawling captured his first feature race of the season to boost his point leadership at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night.

Joe Messina of Troy trailed in second place, followed by Dave Sleight, Bill Secor, Wally Reese, Al Ostrander, Fred Searing, Charlie Dutcher and Paul Dichter in that order.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Batting—Bill Skowron, Yankees, hit two homers against Kansas City in 5-3 victory for total of 17 hits including seven homers, and 18 RBI in the last 36 at bats in seven games.

Pitching—Herb Score and Hank Aguirre, Indians, pair of young left-handers threw double shutouts at Baltimore. Score 3-0 with four hits, Aguirre 4-0 with seven hits.

New Paltz Swimmer First in DeWitt Lake "300"

NEARING THE FINISH LINE—You can only see their heads but George Powers of New Paltz, the winner, has taken the lead to hold in the DeWitt Lake "300" race Sunday. Robb Quinby of New Paltz and Anthony Batealle trail in that order. (Freeman photo).

Redlegs in Position to Gain While Brooks, Braves Battle

BY JACK HAND
(The Associated Press)

Now comes Cincinnati's chance to close ground in the National League race while Milwaukee and Brooklyn slash away at close range in a four-game cutothroat series.

The Redlegs edged within 2½ games of the pace Sunday by polishing off the fading Pittsburgh Pirates in both games of a doubleheader. Milwaukee continued to find trouble in Philadelphia and Brooklyn had to settle for a split with Chicago, breaking the Dodgers' eight-game winning streak.

AFTER CINCINNATI dropped three straight to Brooklyn, there were hints that the Redlegs were cracking. Instead they swept four from the Pirates and moved back into contention.

Cincinnati plays in Pittsburgh again tonight and then takes on the last-place New York Giants in four games while the Braves and Dodgers wrestle.

Brooks Lawrence threw a four-hitter at the Pirates for Cincy's opening victory 6-1 and Smoky Burgess came through with a ninth-inning double that broke a tie for a 3-2 edge in the second.

Cut Simmons took charge of the Braves 5-2 with Roy Smalley's two-run triple breaking open a tie game in the eighth inning.

Peewee Reese ran the Dodgers' winning streak to eight with an eighth-inning homer for Don Newcombe's 100th big league win 1-0, but the Cubs bounced back with a 4-2 decision for a split as Bob Rush won his 100th game.

AS A RESULT of the even break, the Dodgers are four games behind Milwaukee and 1½ games behind Cincinnati. They play the Braves tonight in Brooklyn, Tuesday night in Jersey City and Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon in Brooklyn.

St. Louis sank the Giants deeper into the cellar with a 3-2 triumph in 10 innings on Stan Musial's single, following singles by Don Blasingame and Al Dark. Among the 10 Cardinal hits were three singles and a double by Dark, ex-Giant shortstop.

Casey Stengel celebrated another birthday party at Kansas City with a 5-3 New York Yankee victory over the last-place A's. While Casey goes along at a party-a-day rate, Bill Skowron continues to murder the pitching. He hit two homers Sunday, two Saturday night and now has 17 hits, including seven homers, and has driven in 18 runs in the last seven games.

Boxing Roundup

Ortiz Risks Ring Skein In Feature at St. Nick's

(By The Associated Press)

Carlos Ortiz, unbeaten New York whiz, is rated by many boxing men as the brightest prospect in the lightweight division. The 19-year-old boxer takes on Tommy Salem of Cleveland in the main event of the Monday show at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

The former Police Athletic League champ has won all 15 of his pro starts, seven by knockouts, and is now ready to move up in class.

SALEM'S RECORD for 28 fights is 22-5-1 and he has been in with rougher competition than Ortiz.

The match will be carried on television (Dumont) in some sections of the country.

Bob Satterfield, Chicago veteran, and young Harold Carter of Linden, N. J. box for the third time Wednesday at the War Memorial Auditorium in Syracuse. N. Y. Carter beat Satterfield March 21 after the pair fought a 10-round draw in Miami Beach Feb. 8.

The heavyweight match will be carried on radio and TV (ABC). Madison Square Garden presents a Friday match that originally was scheduled for July 13 but was set back due to an injury to Joey Giambra's hand. The Buffalo, N. Y. middleweight takes on Rocky Castellani of Cleveland, once the No. 1 contender.

CASTELLANI'S RATING suffered when he was upset by Gene Fullmer at Cleveland Jan. 4. Later he came back to beat John L. Sullivan. Rocky still hopes to get another crack at the title. He once had Bobo Olson on the floor but lost a decision in a championship match Aug. 20, 1954.

Giambra hasn't lost since he dropped a non-title match to Olson in 1955.

The Garden show will be carried on radio-TV (NBC). Texas is excited about a Tuesday show in which Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., gets his most important test in a featherweight match with Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn. The bout will be staged at Sam Houston Coliseum in Houston.

Charlotte, N. C. will see Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., and Billy Kilgore of Miami in a midweight 10-rounder Thursday.

Floyd Patterson's hand is supposed to get a final medical check this week. . . . Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., gets back into action after a layoff to box Jesse Turner of St. Louis at Portland, Ore. in a Monday show.

George Powers Nips Robb Quinby In Swim Classic

Kingston Swimmers

Take Other Events

With triple crown winner, Gil Kelder, Jr., of Rosendale, resting on the sidelines, a new winner was crowned in the DeWitt Lake "300" race Sunday.

George Powers of New Paltz beat out a fellow villager, Robb Quinby, by a touch in a thrilling finish. Powers also took the 50-yard swim.

Tony Batealle of High Falls, finished in third place, two lengths behind Powers and Quinby.

Kelder was on hand to witness the race but declined to compete. He told officials he had little chance to train this season and did not feel up to the grind. He congratulated Powers and said he would compete next year.

Kingston swimmers dominated most of the other events.

Kenneth Sicker captured the 50 yard race for boys 12 and 13. Patricia Gendreau of Kingston was first in the 50 yard race for girls 14 and 15. Gertrude Linck won the 100 yard race. Another Kingston winner was Betty Buncie in the 50 yard event for women 16 and over.

Powers and Quinby waged a thrilling stretch run in the "300", with Batealle, trailing by two lengths all the way. Quinby made a strong bid to snatch victory in the final four strokes but Powers refused to yield and his hand touched the finish line an instant before Quinby's.

The summaries:
35-yards (boys under 12)—Won by Nicholas Morris; 2. Johnny Weiner; 3. William Griffin.

50 yards (boys 12 and 13)—Won by Kenneth Sicker; 2. Sunny Buncie; 3. William McDermott.

50 yards (girls 14 and 15)—Won by Patricia Gendreau; 2. Norma Barrett; 3. Jean Smith.

50 yards (men 16 and over)—Won by George Powers; 2. Anthony Batealle; 3. George Canellos.

100 yards (adult men)—Won by Robb Quinby; 2. Anthony Batealle; 3. George Powers.

100 yards (adult women)—Won by Gertrude Linck; 2. Betty Buncie; 3. Marie Wippen.

50 yards (women 16 and over)—Won by Betty Buncie; 2. Gertrude Linck; 3. Marie Wippen.

About 45 swimmers competed. Lou Schafer served as meet director. William Irland was clerk of the course.

Stopinski, Dreishpoon Swim Winners

Paul Stopinski and Linda Dreishpoon scored double victories in the annual Woodstock Country Club swimming meet Sunday.

Stopinski captured the 20-yard freestyle event for boys in the 10-11 age group and took diving honors in the same group.

Miss Dreishpoon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Irving Dreishpoon of Saugerties, won the girls' (8-9) 20-yard race and won a special race against Frank Wiener.

John Knutsen was second in the 10-11 race. Judy Wiener was runnerup to Miss Dreishpoon in the girls race. Austin Erikson was second in the boys 10-11 race.

Medals were awarded to the winners by Anthony J. DeLisio, who sponsored the races.

Haughton to Get Top Driver Award

Billy Haughton, national driving champion the last three years, and the top money-winning driver for the past four seasons, will add another trophy to his collection today (July 30) when he will receive the Fanshaw Trophy as the Yonkers Raceway driving champ in 1955 at a luncheon at Toots Shor's. Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan, other top racing officials and drivers will attend.

Haughton, who also won the trophy in 1954, with 73 victories, led his rivals last year at Yonkers in 58 wins, 38 seconds, 44 thirds in 258 starts for a glittering 543 percentage. This year Billy will have 58 head ready when Yonkers opens its 105 night season Aug. 1.

Dreishpoon-Chisano Take Member-Guest

Card Net Score 54

In Woodstock Event

Dr. Irving Dreishpoon of Saugerties, and his partner, Joseph Chisano of the Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville, combined with a best-ball 54 to capture Saturday's Member-Guest tournament at the Woodstock Country Club.

Chisano, a 15-handicap player, carded an 83 and Dr. Dreishpoon fired a 91 with 21 handicap. Dr. Dreishpoon will be awarded a trophy. Thirty teams competed.

Second place went to Connie DeLocca and his partner, Charles Hunt of McKeesport, Pa., with a net 56. DeLocca, a 21-handicap player, fired career lows of 37 and 77.

BRACKETED at 58s were Gus Modjeska (77) and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill who had a 72 on his own ball and the team of Harry Byrnes and his partner, Frank Campochiaro of Twaalfskill.

Byrnes posted a three-under-par 67 on his own ball, with nines of 33 and 34.

Tied at 62s were the teams of Charles J. Tiano - Floyd W. Flint; Clarence T. Voss - Tom McCrosson and Fred Allen - Roy Vogt.

Anthony J. DeLisio and Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick were all alone with a net 63.

THE 64 GROUP included teams of Sen. Arthur H. Wicks - Louis R. Netter; Claude Needes - Lew Fellows, Catskill; and Bill Van Aken - Dr. Douw Meyers.

Other scores:
Tom Dendy - Emil Boesneck, 70; John Van Gonic - Ed Remmert, 31-35-66; Bruff Olin - Ralph E. Gardner, 35-35-70; Fred Bruhn - Judge Louis G. Bruhn, 34-36-70; Dr. W. Yankees Nip Giants In Glasco-EK League

Yankees edged the Giants, 10 to 9, for their second victory in the second half of the Glasco-East Kingston Little League. The win left the winners a game behind the league leading Giants (3-0). Dodgers are third with 1-2 and the Braves fourth (0-3).

Highland Asks Action on Road Parking Problem

The Highland Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last week asked officials to enlarge and improve the present town parking area.

The parking lot now used on weekdays is filled to capacity, it was reported.

A complaint was also made against overtime parking in village streets. One hour and 15 minutes is allowed and the town board will be asked to issue tickets to violators.

It was announced Friday that the Chamber will conduct a campaign for highway improvements in the town of Lloyd in view of renewed talk about ways to secure a north-south artery in Poughkeepsie.

Guy J. Torsone, chamber secretary, said that any plan for a Poughkeepsie artery must involve adequate highways to handle increased traffic on the west approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

Dutchmen Split Doubleheader in NY-NJ Baseball League

Top Brooklyn, 4-1, Then Lose To Elks, 5 to 1

Saugerties Dutchmen split a Sunday doubleheader in the New York-New Jersey League, defeating the Brooklyn Wind-sors, 4-1, in the afternoon and dropping a 6-1 decision to the Poughkeepsie Elks under the Riverview Field arclights last night.

The afternoon game at Saugerties was played under protest.

Brooklyn protested on the grounds that Saugerties used Jim Mackey, a player who is listed on the official roster of the Kingston Colonials. League rosters closed several days ago.

CLARK MAINS lost a shutout via an unearned run in the fifth, as he allowed only three hits and struck out 12. The Port Ewen flinger fumbled a comeback to allow the only run. The four Saugerties tallies were also unearned.

Bob Foster gave the Dutchmen the 3-hit treatment at Poughkeepsie to gain the decision over Jim Meadlock and George Swart.

Foster, who fanned three, had a shutout until the ninth when Joe Martin doubled and Bill Straub singled to account for the Saugerties marker.

Straub cracked a double and two singles against Brooklyn and knocked in one of the Saugerties tallies.

THE DUTCHMEN launched a three-run rally with two out in the third against the Wind-sors. Third baseman Harry Wingo booted Joe Martin's grounder. Al Iannone and Joe Benjamin scratched infield hits. Straub singled sharply along the third base line, scoring Martin and Iannone. A walk to Willie Goff loaded the bases and Harmon Borfitz's single chased Benjamin across.

In the Brooklyn fifth, Candella walked, went to third on Guarino's singleton and scored when Mains fumbled Hassett's bounder to the box. Hassett went the route for the visitors, giving up seven hits and fanning the same number.

Horace Mann founded the first state normal school in the United States at Lexington, Mass., in 1839.

Balanced geographic distribution marks the 108 Babe Ruth Leagues registered in New York state for 1956 play. A survey at the headquarters of the largest baseball organization for 13-15 year-old boys disclosed that a few days ago.

There is a strong feeling in many quarters that the Fraternal Youth League, now experiencing its roughest season in history, should tie up with the national organization. There are many reasons why baseball people feel the FYL should make the move as quickly as possible.

Affiliation with the Babe Ruth League would give the present FYL organization greater stature and perhaps rally public support for the league which is badly needed in the current critical moments. The gentlemen who have operated FYL ball in the past have done their level best, we are sure, but somehow the program has not achieved the stature and recognition it deserves. Being part of a national movement might help. At least it's worth a try and there is greater disposition to challenge any person who would try to justify not joining the BRL than there is enumerating the many reasons why Kingston should be in the BRL.

New York state has moved into the No. 1 position in total leagues, teams and players this year, with about 9,000 youths participating in the Babe Ruth program. Some 130 all-star teams are involved in eliminations leading to the Babe Ruth World Series in Portland, Oregon, Aug. 20-25.

Long Island is the high section in leagues in New York with 28 circuits, while the East and Hudson river area has 20 loops. The middle part of the state has 20 leagues registered, the west has 17 loops and 16 metropolitan area leagues are playing under the Babe Ruth banner this year.

Leagues in areas fronting on or near the Hudson river from Albany to the Yonkers district include Albany, Amsterdam, Beacon, Bellevue BRL of Schenectady; Bethlehem of Delmar; Central Westchester of Valhalla; East-Greenbush-Seodack of Rensselaer; Glens Falls, Harlem Valley BRL of Millerton, Yonkers, Lansingburgh of Troy; Mt. Kisco, New Rochelle, North Westchester, Ossining, Port Chester, Ramapo of Suffern, Saratoga Springs, Taconic, Wappingers Falls, East Yonkers and Saugerties.

The national headquarters of Babe Ruth League, Inc., at Trenton would feel very happy to receive an application from Kingston, we have been told.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Danny Perlmutter, one of the finest players to represent Kingston in the organized baseball era, admits the temptation to return to the monkey suit haunts him now and then. But he has been able to resist it. Danny and Mrs. Perlmutter, the former Pat Craft of Kingston, operate the highly successful Candelier at Woodstock, with a nation wide outlet for their fine candles. . . Milwaukee farmhand Juan Pizarro is the sensation of the Sally League, with 194 strikeouts and only 85 hits in 147 innings for 13-3 record with Jacksonville. . . Rocky Colavito, the Cleveland rookie, recently unleashed a record heave of 435 in a baseball throwing contest. The world record is claimed to be 443 feet. . . Johnny Temple of the Cincinnati Redlegs says Herb Score of the Milwaukee Braves has beaten the Dodgers five times this season and will challenge Sal Maglie's six wins over the Brooks in one season. But that's still a ways from the National League record held by Ed Reulbach of the Cubs, who in 1908 whipped the Dodgers, then the Brooklyn Robins nine times, including a doubleheader in which he shut out the Bums twice.

Hank Moreno, the jockey, recalls an owner sending him a two-page telegram of instructions how to ride a 60-1 shot in a stakes race. The horse ran for a half mile then folded up. The owner asked Moreno what happened. "Nothing," replied Hank, "I just ran out of instructions at the half mile pole."

Bronx Mohawks Check Colonials in NY-NJ

A ruinous first inning sent the Kingston Colonials tumbling to a 7-5 defeat at the hands of the Bronx Mohawks in a New York-New Jersey League game Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

The smallest crowd of the season looked on as the metropolitan district swingers assaulted Bruce Bechtold for four runs in the opening session.

Colonials rallied for four runs in the fourth but Bill Santoro pitched shutout ball for the rest of the way.

BECHTOLD permitted only six hits over the last eight innings and fanned 13.

The Colonials blew their chances for a great comeback victory with a bit of daffy base running in the second when they loaded the bases with one out. A runner was hung up on a pickoff play and when the smoke cleared, two men had been expunged and the back of a great threat was broken.

Bill Englehart led off with a walk in the first inning. Ray Holland lashed a line drive to center on which Red Gorsline hesitated then started too late and it resulted in a run scoring triple. Fred Calicene's single scored Holland but he was thrown out at third base on Dom Colavito's single to center. After Sonny De Rario grounded to first, catcher Lou Marcano blasted a drive that rolled up the centerfield embankment for two runs to climax a four-run splurge.

A HIT batsman (Joe Modica), singles by Bechtold and Tentowski, Red Gorsline's double, an error and passed ball set up the Colonial rally in the fifth. Catcher Dom Colavito, a brother of the Cleveland Indians' rookie outfielder, protested too much on a scoring play at the plate and was tossed out of the game by Umpire Whitey Crispell.

Cliff Schoonmaker led the Colonials with a single and double and Phil Gatti rapped two singles.

The Colonials are scheduled to play the Nyack club next Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

National Resumes Activity Tonight

The Kingston National League swings back into action tonight at Kingston Park after a week's layoff due to the district tournament.

This week's schedule:

Monday—Pirates vs. Tigers

Wednesday—Braves vs. Indians

Thursday—Tigers vs. Braves

Friday—Indians vs. Pirates.

The Braves-Indians game has been moved to Wednesday so as to enable fans to attend the sectional opener Tuesday night at Ellenville involving the ALL.

Odessa, Tex. (NEA)—There will be twin brothers on the Professional Golfers' Association tour. Bobby Maxwell is to join Billy.

Anderson Wins Regatta

Canandaigua, N. Y., July 30 (P)—Stu Anderson of Buffalo has won this year's Central New York Yacht Racing Assn. Regatta on Canandaigua Lake. During the three-day event which ended yesterday, Anderson in his "lightning" class sailboat, compiled a total of 113 points. There were 144 boats of all classes in the regatta.

Smedes Pitches One-Hit Shutout Against Walden

Ferraro, Bruck Pace.
14-0 Romp With HRs

Vince Smedes pitched a brilliant one-hitter as the Kingston American Little League thumped Walden, 14-0, to capture the LL District Eight championship Saturday at Ellenville. The lopsided victory moved the ALL into the quarter-finals of the state sectionals against the Poughkeepsie-Fishkill district champion. The duel is slated for Tuesday at Ellenville at 6 p. m.

SMEDES HAD to share some of the spotlight with teammates Mike Ferraro and Jim Bruck who supplied the long-distance punch. Ferraro went 4-for-4 and Bruck teed off for a solo circuit.

Smedes was two outs away from hurling a no-hitter when pinch hitter Leroy Bettcher singled through shortstop to ruin the bid. Smedes, who featured a puzzling curve among his assortment of pitches, struck out nine and walked one. He faced just 19 batters—one over the minimum.

RICKEY JANSEN went the route and took the loss. He was belted for a dozen hits. His mates made things tougher by committing six errors. Ferraro is the likely starter for the sectional opener. He already boasts a tourney success, a 6-1 decision over the National Little League.

Dodgers and Pirates

Cop Small Fry Games

Dodgers routed the Yankees, 18-10, and Pirates overwhelmed the White Sox, 26 to 12, in YMCA small fry softball games Saturday at the Athletic Field. W. Back, G. Hawkins, C. Rand, J. McGarry each had four hits.

Two League Officials Will Meet Tonight

Officials and managers of the City Baseball League will meet Monday evening after the Saugerties Whiz Kids-Watzka game to discuss the schedule and other league matters for the duration of the season.

The rest of this week's schedule:

TUESDAY—Doblers vs. Kingston Eagles

WEDNESDAY—Whiz Kids vs. Jones Dairy

THURSDAY—Nadlers vs. Doblers

All games, of course, start at 6:15 at the Athletic Field.

Briefly Told

New York, July 30 (AP)—Ten Daniel and Florence Guggenheim fellows have been appointed for advanced study of flight structures, rockets and jet propulsion.

The one-year appointments carry stipends of tuition and cash grants of $1,200 to $2,000. The fellows will study at Columbia University, Princeton University and the California Institute of Technology.

The new fellows who will study at the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Institute of Flight Structures at Columbia University include Charles W. Miller of Niagara Falls.

Morrisville, July 30 (AP)—Two escapees captured after a 95-mile-an-hour highway chase have been returned to the Connecticut State Hospital, a mental institution at Middletown.

Kenneth Smith, 25, of Waterbury, Conn., and Donald Lesse, 16, of Meriden, Conn., were captured by Trooper J. R. McKaig.

McKaig chased the stolen-car trooper, forcing them off the road with his own car on Route 20, about three miles west of Morrisville.

McKaig said the chase reached speeds of 95 miles an hour.

Italian Attorney

Visits Area Kin;

Doria Passenger

Antonio Resso, attorney from Amrosio, Province of Benevento, Italy, who was a passenger on the ill-fated Andrea Doria last Wednesday when the Italian luxury liner was rammed and sunk off Nantucket, visited his aunt, Mrs. Philip Conte at Glenside, and Mrs. Pasquale Mauro at Saugerties over the weekend.

Attorney Resso was en route to the United States for a two-month visit with his mother who resides in Connecticut.

When the Andrea Doria went down after being struck by the Swedish-American liner Stockholm, Resso lost all of his personal belongings.

Fatal Collision

Little Falls, Minn., July 30 (AP)—Anne E. Edmonds, 52, New Rochelle, N. Y., was killed in a four-car collision yesterday.

The highway patrol reported cars driven by Miss Edmonds and Ronald E. Briese, Norwalk, Iowa, collided head-on. Cars driven by Richard A. Ayers and James E. Johnson, both of Minneapolis, crashed into the wreckage. Miss Edmonds was alone in her car. Fifteen persons in the other cars escaped injury.

Three Are Hurt Over Weekend, One Driver Held

Three persons were injured in two weekend, city mishaps and a driver was charged with leaving the scene of another.

Mrs. Joseph Verdicchizzi, 62, of Box 204, Albany avenue extension, was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of shock and possible chest and knee injuries after a two-car collision at Hurley and Washington avenues early Sunday, and her husband reported "scratches on the legs."

Harold James Crantz, 34, of Colonial Gardens reported a nose injury when his car hit a fence of the New York Central railroad at Foxhall avenue and Cornell street at 1:10 a. m., Sunday. Officers George Dohnken and Gerard McCloskey said the car was headed east on Cornell street. Three fence posts were reported damaged.

Robert E. Davis, 48, of 88 Shufeldt street, was arrested by officers Benjamin Osterhoudt and Harry Tempelaar on Broadway near East Strand, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, after his car allegedly struck the parked car of John Leski, of 122 Newkirk avenue. His case was put over to Aug. 6 to permit him time to obtain counsel, when he appeared in city court today.

Officers Dohnken and McCloskey investigated the mishap at Hurley and Washington avenues, and said the Verdicchizzi sedan and the car of Wilson L. Stokes, 18, of 179 Henry street, were both headed east on Hurley avenue.

Lack of Homes

that more rental housing has become available but it is far short of the present demand. Vacancies are difficult to find.

In commenting on this statement, Kurt said that there is evidence that local employment was refused because of the difficulty of finding a place to live. "If the situation gets any worse," he continued, "it will definitely influence future expansion. It is a problem we must solve by working together and the Chamber of Commerce would be pleased to serve as a coordinating agency and a clearing house until it is solved."

Issued Summons

Alice Collard, 18, of Middletown, was arrested by Ellenville state police Saturday afternoon following a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 52 and Cragmoor road. Troopers reported that Miss Collard was arrested as an unlicensed operator and was served with a summons returnable before Justice of the Peace Frank Muller of Ellenville at 8 p. m. Friday. Miss Collard was proceeding upgrade behind a car operated by Herbert Goyal, 25, of Mt. Vernon, when the Goyal car slowed and Miss Collard's car struck it in the rear, according to troopers.

To Fight for Power Bill

Albany, N. Y., July 30 (P)—Gov. Harriman says he will "continue to fight" for development of Niagara Falls power by the State Power Authority. He said in a statement issued by his office that "the almost solid opposition" of New York's Republican congressmen had been a major factor in failure of a Niagara public power bill in the Congress that adjourned Saturday. The Senate had passed by a 48-39 vote the bill that would have authorized the Power Authority to build and operate a 400-million-dollar hydro-power plant at Niagara. The measure was in the House Rules Committee when the 84th Congress adjourned.

Esopus Man Is Held for Reckless Driving Sunday

An Esopus man was arrested on a charge of reckless driving Sunday night on Route 375 following a two-car collision near Tokalon Kennels.

Karl Reubel, 54, was issued a summons by Kingston state police returnable at 2 p. m. Saturday before Justice of the Peace Alton Boice of Hurley.

Troopers said Mr. Reubel was traveling south on Route 375 when he crossed a double line near the kennels and struck a car operated by Clifford Wesley Elliott, 28, of Woodstock, traveling north.

Neither of the drivers claimed injuries. Time of the accident was fixed at 9 p. m.

Broome Says

Howard of Kingston, further stated that the sale of beer and cider for off premises consumption will not be permitted hereafter on primary and election days while the polls are closed.

RESTAURANTS and grills, bars and package stores, have always been closed on primary and election days. The present Ulster county closing hour is 3 a. m.

A spokesman for the board said the new schedule of hours had been under consideration for some time.

Police authorities have contended that Ulster gets the overflow from Dutchess at present and that completion of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, expected in November, will create a worse traffic problem.

KINGSTON POLICE made 34 arrests on the weekend of July 15. Four arrests were the result of a downtown "free-for-all" between police, deputy sheriffs and a state trooper. The brawl reportedly had its start in a downtown restaurant.

The police blotter indicated that half of the arrests were on public intoxication charges. It was reported the board took into consideration the serious police trouble, presumably resulting from the late closing, also the juvenile delinquency trend.

Mr. Sauter said the reported 1 a. m. closing of Ulster establishments was "the best news I've heard in a long, long time."

HE DECLARED "extra hours" for drinking in Ulster county has been a contributory force to automobile accident injuries and deaths over the years. He praised the new curfew as "a progressive step" and said he hoped that Putnam and Columbia counties would now follow Ulster county's lead.

Mr. Sauter said Putnam observes the full leniency of the state law, a 3 a. m. closing while Columbia has a 2 a. m. curfew on the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Mittlen Joyce Reported Missing

Mittlen Joyce, 17, of 67 Ann street, was reported missing from home since Saturday, and one report received by police indicated that she might be on the way to Texas with a young man to get married.

Police sent out a teletype on request of her step-father, Arthur McCann, who said she has been missing since Saturday at about 7:30 a. m. She was described as five feet, five inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, has medium brown hair, and blue eyes, and was wearing dungarees and a blue blouse.

Writer Dies

South Kingston, R. I., July 30 (P)—John McNulty, 60, a writer for the New Yorker magazine for the past 20 years, died last night at his home. McNulty probably is best known for his chronicles of New York life. One collection of his magazine pieces was put together into a book under the title of "Third Avenue, New York." Another collection was published as "A Man Gets Around." McNulty's most recent book was "My Son John," made up of articles about his son, now nearly six years of age.

Single Bond Issue Considered by Dutchess

The Dutchess county board of supervisors is considering the possibility of including all public works projects and other jobs under an omnibus bond issue, it was reported in Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

It was indicated the county cannot expect to finance a long list of contemplated capital improvements "on a pay as you go basis."

It was reported the capital projects would include $3,700,000 for a new county office building; a $300,000 wing on the county jail; a $300,000 addition to the county home-infirmity; up to $150,000 renovations on the present court house.

Also included would be an undetermined amount for building and runway expansion of the county airport and undetermined amount "to bring county highways up to present day needs."

No indication was given of the tax increase involved in such a bond issue but one county official said he believed it might run $14 per thousand of assessed value above present county taxation.

Union Street Fire Is Being Probed

Police are investigating the origin of a fire which damaged the roof and attic of an unoccupied two-story concrete house at 151 East Union street (The High Road) Sunday night.

Two women and a dog were seen leaving the house some time before the fire and some clothing had been left inside, police said. Union and Cordts hose companies were dispatched there at 7:45 p. m., after the blaze was discovered by officers Benjamin Osterhoudt and Gilbert Gray, who were on patrol in the area.

The officers said a section of roof was burning, and firemen said the roof and attic were heavily involved when they arrived. The owner of the house is unknown.

A call at 7:13 p. m., was for a fire in the upholstery of a car owned by Robert Schwenk, of 151 Clifton avenue, near that address. Engine 1 of Central station and Wicks engine company responded.

YMCA Registers 145 for Sixth Week at Day Camp

Approximately 145 boys and girls were registered for the sixth week of camping at the YMCA Day Camp at DeWitt Lake starting this morning, according to Louis Schafer, camp director.

Many of the boys and girls are beginning to show results of their swimming instruction. In the beginner's group 42 boys and girls have been taught to swim. Both Mr. Schafer and William Ireland, camp directors, do not consider a camper a swimmer unless they can cover a distance of 75 feet in water that is over their head. This group is called the minnows.

There are many other boys and girls that have accomplished much in their swimming and those returning to camp this week should be able to pass the required distance test. Many other boys and girls have good starts and are swimming about 20 to 30 feet and require more practice on fundamental beginner's skills.

THE OLDER campers are working on 10 skill tests in both the fish and flying fish test. These two tests besides having many swimming skills, also require a swimmer to do 100 yards and 220 yards respectively to obtain a card and badge. The better swimmers are in the shark class, passing 10 special skills that will put them in good training for junior life saving skills after they are 12 years of age. This shark class also calls for a swim of 440 yards and two good dives.

There are 12 boys and girls that can swim the distance of the lake and return which is close to one mile. These campers get a swimming achievement diploma with gold printed letters.

NEW CAMPERS and old campers returning after being away for one or two weeks are:

Upper camp: Lou Anne Doolittle, Virginia Wirth, Judy Wadnola, Leo Miller, Robert Hanley, Karen Donnellan, Carol Shavone, George Ferguson, Judy Long and Gloria Peterson.

Lower camp: Christian Doolittle, Linda Cooper, Sharon Ann Murphy, Peggy Miller, Arthur Hoge, Jr., Tibor Tomshay, Terrence Noble, Nancy Crosby, Allen Deyo, Laurence Wonderly, Ellen and Victoria St. John, William Brinnier, Earl Machtersimer, Frank Thompson, Roland Augustine, Russel Supplies, Rosemary Whitaker, Linda & Frank Kilmer, Douglas Long, Richard Bockelman, Jay Falvey and June Robinson.
